two NASA missions Mars Climate Orbiter and Mars Polar Lander caused the space agency's program of Mars exploration to be systematically rethought both technologically and scientifically. A new Mars Exploration Program plan summarized in Appendix A was announced in October 2000. The Committee on Planetary and Lunar Exploration (COMPLEX), a standing committee of the Space Studies Board of the National Research Council, was asked to examine the scientific content of this new program. This report's goals are the following:

- Review the state of knowledge of the planet Mars with special emphasis on findings of the most recent Mars missions and related research activities.
- Review the most important Mars research opportunities in the immediate future.
- Review scientific priorities for the exploration of Mars identified by COMPLEX and other scientific advisory groups and their motivation and consider the degree to which recent discoveries suggest a reordering of priorities.
- Assess the congruence between NASA's evolving Mars Exploration Program plan and these recommended priorities and suggest any adjustments that might be warranted.
