Ruaha Unirvesity Applicatio Form 2015 2016

Sascha Knauf,Lisa Jones-Engel

Ruaha Unirvesity Applicatio Form 2015 2016:

Handbook of Research on Current Trends in Cybersecurity and Educational Technology Jimenez, Remberto,O'Neill, Veronica E.,2023-02-17 There has been an increased use of technology in educational settings since the start of the COVID 19 pandemic Despite the benefits of including such technologies to support education there is still the need for vigilance to counter the inherent risk that comes with the use of such technologies as the protection of students and their information is paramount to the effective deployment of any technology in education The Handbook of Research on Current Trends in Cybersecurity and Educational Technology explores the full spectrum of cybersecurity and educational technology today and brings awareness to the recent developments and use cases for emergent educational technology Covering key topics such as artificial intelligence gamification robotics and online learning this premier reference source is ideal for computer scientists industry professionals policymakers administrators researchers academicians scholars practitioners instructors and students

Indigenous Methodologies, Research and Practices for Sustainable Development Marcellus F. Mbah,Walter Leal Filho,Sandra Ajaps,2022-10-21 This book states that whilst academic research has long been grounded on the idea of western or scientific epistemologies this often does not capture the uniqueness of Indigenous contexts and particularly as it relates to the achievement of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals SDGs The SDGs were announced in 2015 accompanied by 17 goals and 169 targets These goals are the means through which Agenda 2030 for sustainable development is to be pursued and realised over the next 15 years and the contributions of Indigenous peoples are essential to achieving these goals Indigenous peoples can be found in practically every region of the world living on ancestral homelands in major cities rainforests mountain regions desert plains the arctic and small Pacific Islands Their languages knowledges and values are rooted in the landscapes and natural resources within their territories However many Indigenous peoples are now minorities within their homelands and globally and there is a dearth of research based on Indigenous epistemologies and methodologies Furthermore academic research on Indigenous peoples is typically based on western lenses Thus the paucity of Indigenous methodologies within mainstream research discourses present challenges for implementing practical research designs and interpretations that can address epistemological distinctiveness within Indigenous communities There is therefore the need to articulate as well as bring to the nexus of research aimed at fostering sustainable development a decolonising perspective in research design and practice This is what this book wants to achieve The contributions critically reflect on Indigenous approaches to research design and implementation towards achieving the sustainable development goals as well as the associated challenges and opportunities The contributions also advanced knowledge theory and practice of Indigenous methodologies for sustainable development

Remote Sensing of Soil and Land Surface Processes Assefa Melesse,Omid Rahmati,Khabat Khsoravi,2023-10-31 Remote Sensing of Soil and Land Surface Processes Monitoring Mapping and Modeling couples artificial intelligence and remote sensing for mapping and modeling natural resources thus expanding the applicability of AI and machine learning for soils and landscape studies and providing a hybridized approach that also increases the accuracy of image analysis The book covers topics including digital soil mapping satellite land surface imagery assessment of land degradation and deep learning networks and their applicability to land surface processes and natural hazards including case studies and real life examples where appropriate This book offers postgraduates researchers and academics the latest techniques in remote sensing and geoinformation technologies to monitor soil and surface processes Introduces object based concepts and applications enhancing monitoring capabilities and increasing the accuracy of mapping Couples artificial intelligence and remote sensing for mapping and modeling natural resources expanding the applicability of AI and machine learning for soils and sediment studies Includes the use of new sensors and their applications to soils and sediment characterization Includes case studies from a variety of geographical areas

Nature Conservation in Southern Africa, 2018-11-26 Nature conservation in southern Africa has always been characterised by an interplay between Capital specific understandings of Morality and forms of Militarism that are all dependent upon the shared subservience and marginalization of animals and certain groups of people in society Although the subjectivity of people has been rendered visible in earlier publications on histories of conservation in southern Africa the subjectivity of animals is hardly ever seriously considered or explicitly dealt with In this edited volume the subjectivity and sentience of animals is explicitly included The contributors argue that the shared human and animal marginalisation and agency in nature conservation in southern Africa and beyond could and should be further explored under the label of sentient conservation Contributors are Malcolm Draper Vupenyu Dzingirai Jan Bart Gewald Michael Glover Paul Hebinck Tariro Kamuti Lindiwe Mangwanya Albert Manhamo Dhoya Snijders Marja Spierenburg Sandra Swart Harry Wels

Resource Scarcity Marcelle C. Dawson, Christopher Rosin, Nave Wald, 2017-11-02 A common perception of global resource scarcity holds that it is inevitably a catalyst for conflict among nations yet paradoxically incidents of such scarcity underlie some of the most important examples of international cooperation This volume examines the wider potential for the experience of scarcity to promote cooperation in international relations and diplomacy beyond the traditional bounds of the interests of competitive nation states The interdisciplinary background of the book's contributors shifts the focus of the analysis beyond narrow theoretical treatments of international relations and resource diplomacy to broader examinations of the practicalities of cooperation in the context of competition and scarcity Combining the insights of a range of social scientists with those of experts in the natural and bio sciences many of whom work as resource practitioners outside the context of universities the book works through the tensions between thinking theory and doing practice which so often plague the process of social change These encounters with scarcity draw attention away from the myopic focus on market forces and allocation and encourage us to recognise more fully the social nature of the tensions and opportunities that are associated with our shared dependence on resources that are not readily accessible to all The book brings together experts on theorising scarcity and those on the scarcity of specific resources It begins with a theoretical reframing of both the contested concept of scarcity and the underlying dynamics of resource diplomacy The authors then outline the current tensions around resource scarcity or degradation and examine existing progress towards cooperative international management of resources These include food and water scarcity mineral exploration and exploitation of the oceans Overall the contributors propose a more hopeful and positive engagement among the world's nations as they pursue the economic and social benefits derived from natural resources while maintaining the ecological processes on which they depend

The Biology of African Savannahs Bryan Shorrocks, William Bates, 2015 Savannah habitats comprise an ecologically important but ultimately fragile ecosystem They constitute one of the largest biomes on Earth covering almost 20% of the land surface and can be simply described as tropical and subtropical grasslands with scattered bushes and trees Most savannahs occur in Africa although smaller areas can be found in South America India and Australia They form a rich mosaic of diverse ecosystems and this book offers a concise but comprehensive introduction to their ecology biodiversity and conservation The Biology of African Savannahs describes the major plants grasses and trees such as Acacia and animals mainly large mammals that live in this habitat and examines the biological and ecological factors that influence their population size interactions such as predation and community composition Conservation issues such as climate change hunting and conflict between wildlife and domestic animals are also discussed This new edition has been updated throughout with the latest research in the field and contains new technique boxes which introduce readers to some of the analytical methods used to study African savannahs This accessible text is suitable for both senior undergraduate and graduate students taking courses in savannah and tropical ecology as part of a wider ecology and or conservation biology degree programme It will also be of relevance and use to the many professional ecologists and conservation practitioners requiring a concise but authoritative overview of the topic Conservation and Management of Large Carnivores - Local Insights for Global Challenges Tasos
