

Chapter 1: Intro

What is a function?

What is a function?

A function is a rule that assigns to each input exactly one output. It is a relationship between a set of inputs and a set of outputs, where each input is associated with exactly one output.

For example, the function $f(x) = 2x + 1$ takes an input x and produces an output $2x + 1$. The function $f(x) = x^2$ takes an input x and produces an output x^2 .

Functions are used to model many real-world phenomena, such as the growth of a population, the motion of an object, or the cost of a product.
