Pathways to Reform Alexandra W. Logue, 2017-09-08 A personal account of the implementation of a controversial credit transfer program at the nation's third largest university Change is notoriously difficult in any large organization Institutions of higher education are no exception From 2010 to 2013 Alexandra Logue then chief academic officer of The City University of New York led a controversial reform initiative known as Pathways The program aimed to facilitate the transfer of credits among the university's nineteen constituent colleges in order to improve graduation rates a long recognized problem for public universities such as CUNY. Hotly debated Pathways met with vociferous resistance from many faculty members drew the attention of local and national media and resulted in lengthy legal action. In Pathways to Reform Logue the figure at the center of the maelstrom blends vivid personal narrative with an objective perspective to tell how this hard fought plan was successfully implemented at the third largest university in the United States. Logue vividly illustrates why change does or does not take place in higher education and the professional and personal tolls exacted. Looking through the lens of the Pathways program and factoring in key players she analyzes how governance structures and conflicting interests along with other institutional factors impede change which Logue shows is all too rare, slow and costly. In this environment she argues it is shared governance combined with a strong central decision making authority that best facilitates necessary reform. Logue presents a compelling investigation of not only transfer policy but also power dynamics and university leadership. Shedding light on the inner workings of one of the most important public institutions in the nation Pathways to Reform provides the first full account of how despite opposition a complex higher education initiative was realized. All net royalties received by the author from sales of this book will be donated to The City University of New York to support undergraduate student financial aid.

Handbook of Research on Teacher Education and Professional Development Martin, Christie, Polly, Drew, 2016-09-23 With the ever changing climate of education around the globe it is essential that educators stay abreast of the most updated teaching methods and applications. To do this fostering teacher education programs that include innovative practices and initiatives within the field is imperative. The Handbook of Research on Teacher Education and Professional Development investigates current initiatives and approaches in educational programs. Focusing on research studies and theoretical concepts on innovative projects related to teacher education and professional development programs this book is a pivotal reference source for academics, professionals, students, practitioners and researchers.

Teaching Heritage Language Learners John B. Webb, 2000 Teaching Heritage Language Learners: Voices from the Classroom is a groundbreaking volume that offers a guide for language teachers, school administrators, support personnel that will enable them to work more effectively with the growing population of heritage language learners in the nation's schools. Written by for teachers this book provides an overview of the research on heritage language education, proposes fundamental teacher beliefs, goals for curriculum instruction that will enhance teaching learning, presents framework that educators can use to acquire essential information about their heritage language students, explores the issue of standards for heritage language classes, describes a learning environment in which the diverse range of learner needs can be addressed. The book is further enriched by the presentation, discussion of classroom research of successful teaching strategies, related stories written by teachers about their experiences working with their students, retrospectives from adult heritage language learners looking back at their youth schooling. It can serve as a valuable companion for staff development.
