It provides a checklist for writing an effective abstract, including: (a) stating the purpose of the study, (b) summarizing the methodology, (c) presenting the results, and (d) concluding with the main findings. Standard: Spring weights are measured in the vertical direction, at a distance of about 1.5 in. from the center of rotation. Since there is a change in spring force at the point of spring change, an S-shaped spring will "adjust" itself to follow the desired force-deflection curve.

- Abstract—This paper presents a new approach to the problem of detecting changes in the parameters of a system. The proposed method is based on the use of a neural network to model the system's behavior. The network is trained on a set of data from the system, and its output is compared to the actual system output. If the difference between the two is large, a change in the system parameters is detected. This method is shown to be effective in detecting changes in the parameters of a system, even when the changes are small.
