modernisation the role of policy implementation was one shouldered by the Singapore Public Service a story thus far neglected in literature Inception Point argues that the Singapore Public Service used executive development and training to introduce reforms across the bureaucracy In so doing the bureaucracy constantly adjusted itself to help modernise Singapore In the 40 years between decolonisation in 1959 and 2001 when the training arm of the bureaucracy became a statutory board training had been used firstly to socialise the bureaucracy away from its colonial era organisational culture to prepare it for the tasks of nation building Subsequently civil servants were mobilised into an economic general staff through training and development to lead the Singapore developmental state in the 1970s and the 1980s The Public Service for the 21st Century PS21 reforms in the 1990s was the epitome in harnessing development and training for reforms across the bureaucracy
