Reflections of Yesterday ,1985      Remembering the AIDS Quilt Charles E. Morris III,2011-06-01 A collaborative creation unlike any other the NAMES Project Foundation's AIDS Memorial Quilt has played an invaluable role in shattering the silence and stigma that surrounded the epidemic in the first years of its existence Designed by Cleve Jones the AIDS Quilt is the largest ongoing community arts project in the world Since its conception in 1987 the Quilt has transformed the cultural and political responses to AIDS in the U S Representative of both marginalized and mainstream peoples the Quilt contains crucial material and symbolic implications for mourning the dead and the treatment and prevention of AIDS However the project has raised numerous questions concerning memory activism identity ownership and nationalism as well as issues of sexuality race class and gender As thought provoking as the Quilt itself this diverse collection of essays by ten prominent rhetorical scholars provides a rich experience of the AIDS Quilt incorporating a variety of perspectives critiques and interpretations

Once Upon a Quilt Margret Aldrich,2003      The Fragmented Female Body and Identity Pamela B. June,2010 The Fragmented Female Body and Identity explores the symbol of the wounded and scarred female body in selected postmodern multiethnic American women's novels namely Toni Morrison's Beloved Theresa Hak Kyung Cha's Dict e Phyllis Alesia Perry's Stigmata Gayl Jones's Corregidora Emma Pérez's Gulf Dreams Paula Gunn Allen's The Woman Who Owned the Shadows and Kathy Acker's Blood and Guts in High School and Empire of the Senseless In each of these novels disjointed postmodern writing reflects the novel's focus on fragmented female bodies The wounded and scarred body emerges from various often intersecting forms of oppression including patriarchy racism and heteronormativity This book emphasizes the different and nuanced forms of oppression each woman faces However while the fragmented body symbolizes oppression and pain it also catalyzes resistance through recognition When female characters recognize some element of a shared oppression they form bonds with one another These feminist unities as a response to multiple forms of oppression become viable means for resistance and healing

Culturally Responsive Pedagogy: Teaching Like Our Students' Lives Matter Sheryl Taylor, Donna Sobel, 2011-07-19. At its core, culturally responsive pedagogy represents a professional philosophy that is based on teachers' fundamental commitment to students' success. Authors Taylor and Sobel believe that teachers want to approach their teaching from the pivotal point that each of their students' lives matter. Working from a broad perspective of culture, the authors view culturally responsive teaching as a contextual and situational process for both teachers and students, all students including those who are from a diversity of languages, cultures, racial/ethnic backgrounds, religions, economic resources, interests, abilities, and life experiences, as well as students who are members of the society's mainstream cultural/linguistic and socio-economic background. Recognizing that teachers are conduits of culture regardless of what content they teach, the authors assert that when culture is coupled with pedagogy, the result involves a complex and comprehensive mix of knowledge and skills for teachers to use to engage a diverse student population. This book is intended as a guide and practical discussion for K-12 teachers who are committed to culturally responsive pedagogy and recognize the structural inequalities in society that are reflected in its schools. Such teachers acknowledge that schools have a history of failing to serve students who are outside of the mainstream culture. For those teachers who recognize the sociopolitical nature of education and the role their own cultural background and privilege play in their work as a professional educator they will find meaningful applications of research based exemplars used to create and manage rigorous learning environments that maximize students opportunities to learn
