A Universal Template for Research Position and Life Experience Papers Dale Benjamin Drakeford, 2005 The self descriptive title A Universal Template For Research Position and Life Experience Papers implies that there is a position that writers take in even the simplest of essays As such Template provides an opportunity to accomplish two tasks at once consider the definitive differences between Research Position and Experience papers and explore the issues that impound and empower contemporary urban education Dale Benjamin Drakeford provides an interactive workshop to guide student writing on any social science subject Agreeing with many scholars that public and free pedagogy is indispensable the author also argues that there is no wrong or right in scholastic debate only correct presentation of objective thoughts or non objective attitudes This the author says is what is sometimes forgotten in the heat of getting ideas on paper Hence Template provides structure for planning papers and in process cues for staying on task to complete them with proper formality 32

Marine Mammal Populations and Ocean Noise National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Ocean Studies Board, Committee on Characterizing Biologically Significant Marine Mammal Behavior, 2005-02-24. Attention has been drawn to the subject of how ocean noise affects marine mammals by a series of marine mammal strandings, lawsuits, and legislative hearings, and most recently the report from the U.S. Commission on Ocean Policy. One way to assess the impact of ocean noise is to consider whether it causes changes in animal behavior that are biologically significant—that is, those that affect an animal's ability to grow, survive, and reproduce. This report offers a conceptual model designed to clarify which marine mammal behaviors are biologically significant for conservation purposes. The report is intended to help scientists and policymakers interpret provisions of the federal Marine Mammal Protection Act.
