Herbie J Pilato, 2014-09-09 Glamour Gidgets and the Girl Next Door is the latest creation from entertainment biographer and pop culture consultant Herbie J Pilato. Based on exclusive celebrity interviews, this book runs the gamut of female television legends from Donna Douglas, who played Elly May Clampett on The Beverly Hillbillies, to the stars of the original Charlie's Angels. According to Pilato, "There are so many charismatic women who have made their beauty mark in television. I wanted to celebrate their contributions not only with regard to aesthetic appeal but to honor the intelligence, individual wit, and unique talent and style that each of them have contributed to television and how that great medium in particular was utilized to introduce and showcase so many amazing and wonderful women to the world." Suffice it to say, for exclusive and key information on TV's top leading ladies who shattered expectations and paved the way for successive generations, this book is the number one resource and go-to guide.

NBC Michele Hilmes, Michael Lowell Henry, 2007-08 NBC America's Network makes a significant contribution to our understanding of American broadcasting. Hilmes makes a convincing case for the appropriateness of an examination of a single firm, NBC, to illuminate the major themes and events of American broadcast history. In addition, she adeptly synthesizes a strong set of individually authored chapters on specific historical periods, controversies, and program genres into a coherent whole. The writing is concise and lively, and the breadth and depth of the material makes this an exceptional work.

William Boddy, author of New Media and Popular Imagination, NBC America's Network is an outstanding book about one network across US television history. Hilmes is an excellent editor who brings broad insights about the television industry to bear on this volume. The individual essays present different approaches and methods and together provide an integrated history of NBC with analysis that respects the medium and the people that worked in it.

Mary Beth Haralovich, co-editor of Television History and American Culture, Feminist Critical Essays Filled with highly readable essays by the top scholars in the field. NBC America's Network explores key, often watershed moments in the network's history to illuminate the central role broadcasting has played in constituting public discourse about what is and what is not in the public interest. A welcome addition to the history of broadcasting and essential reading for anyone interested in the transformative role of radio and TV in modern life.

Susan J Douglas, author of Listening In: Radio and the American Imagination.

A Newscast for the Masses Tim Kiska, 2009 Explores the development of local television news and the economic and social factors that elevated it to prominence. As the chief source of information for many people and a key revenue stream for the country's broadcast conglomerates, local television news has grown from a curiosity into a powerful journalistic and cultural force. In A Newscast for the Masses, Tim Kiska examines the evolution of television news in Detroit from its beginnings in the late 1940s, when television was considered a wild, young medium, to the early 1980s, when cable television permanently altered the broadcast landscape. Kiska shows how the local news, which was initially considered a poor substitute for respectable print journalism, became the cornerstone of television programming and the public's preferred news source. Kiska begins his study in 1947 with the first Detroit television broadcast made by WWJ-TV, owned by the Evening News Association the same company that owned the Detroit News WWJ developed a credible broadcast news operation as a cross promotional vehicle for the newspaper Yet by the late 1960s WWJ was unseated by newcomers WXYZ TV and WJBK TV whose superior coverage of the 1967 Detroit riots lured viewers away from WWJ WXYZ TV would eventually become the most powerful news outlet in Detroit with the help of its cash rich parent company the American Broadcasting Corporation and its use of sophisticated survey research and advertising techniques to grow its news audience Though critics tend to deride the sensationalism and showmanship of local television news Kiska demonstrates that over the last several decades newscasts have effectively tailored their content to the demands of the viewing public and as a result have become the most trusted source of information for the average American and the most lucrative source of profit for television networks A Newscast for the Masses is based on extensive interviews with journalists who participated in the development of television in Detroit and careful research into the files of the McHugh Hoffman consulting firm which used social science techniques to discern the television viewing preferences of metro Detroiters Anyone interested in television history or journalism will appreciate this detailed and informative study Focus On: 100 Most Popular Actresses from New York City Wikipedia contributors,
