

Calculating pH

How will it be used for the concentration differences here?

Why?

As buffers and other substances control pH in a system, we can use the ability of buffers to resist change. The property of buffer resistance against pH change is called its buffering capacity. Buffering capacity is determined by the concentration of the buffer components. The closer the pH of a solution is to the pKa of the buffer, the greater the buffering capacity. Buffers are most effective at resisting pH change at the pKa of the buffer.
