A Workbook for Reading Argumentative Texts James E. Scheuermann, 2022-07-26 This Workbook is a collection of exercises and case studies designed to serve as a companion to Reading Argumentative Texts Analytic Tools to Improve Understanding The exercises and case studies track each of the chapters of Reading and provide opportunities for students to hone their skills at using the analytic tools presented in Reading and to acquire additional analytic tools and concepts These tools are illustrated through the analysis of complete essays from the mass media speeches a sermon and passages from academic works The approach is flexible and practical and avoids academic jargon and specific theories of argumentation As is the case with Reading this Workbook is grounded in two principles First that the meaning of an argumentative text is to be found in the statements that constitute the argument itself in other statements that are more or less directly related to the argument and in the structure and context of the text Accordingly while this book discusses the analysis of arguments argument types and errors in argumentation fallacies it focuses equally on the other sources of meaning of a text Second there is no single authoritative reading of an argumentative text The interplay of these two premises informs the view that analyzing and understanding an argumentative text is an art and that within certain well defined parameters there are better and worse readings of a text and not right or wrong readings The principal sources of meaning discussed include 1 the structure of the text and so the book examines six types of introductions and teaches how to outline and summarize 2 key sentences phrases and words in a text so the book discusses ambiguity the difference between factual and normative statements irony and rhetoric 3 context intellectual social political cultural and physical context and 4 the logical connections between terms in an argument including the four different types of arguments fallacies and the distinction between necessary and sufficient conditions The book is designed to be used in late high school or early college critical reading critical thinking rhetoric or writing courses

College Writing Skills Peder Jones, Jay Farness, 2002-10

College Writing Skills uses explanation demonstration and practice to teach skills essential to success in college writing For this course Peder Jones and Jay Farness have constructed a framework of rhetoric work in composing paragraphs and essays around disciplined study of sentences and words The authors have sought in each section of the book to combine the most useful features of contemporary and traditional approaches to college English Their overall aim is to enable the beginning college writer to compose clear and effective sentences paragraphs and compositions This new edition of College Writing Skills is a refinement of the four previous editions it has been shaped by helpful comments from students and instructors who have used the course Exercises have been updated and many minor changes for clarity have been made Basic features of this text have not changed however As a hybrid of textbook and workbook it continues to stress focused practice leading to directed independent composing activities it emphasizes student writing rather than students reading about writing This emphasis translates into more than 500 sets of exercises more than 100 optional workshop activities and an Appendix covering special problems in the acquisition of English The exercises in this textbook embody our belief that practice is crucial to improving one's writing skills Accordingly this text provides practice in forming ideas in getting ideas out of one's head and onto paper in experimenting with various sentence structures in order to achieve clarity in following models of correct grammar and effective style and in making the writing process pay off through effective revision and editing A Collegiate Press book
