

Chapter 4 Case Study: Personal Finance, Inc. Data-Pooling Summary

Below is the summary of information that resulted:

Personal Finance, Inc. owns and operates Mutual Funds in a direct relationship with the client.

Since about 1980, and that company is planning an international expansion by opening a new "subsidiary" in the British area. Personal Finance's president, Charles L. Hall, asked an IT consultant,

Susan Park, to help develop an information system for that new facility. During the project, Susan will work closely with Greg Lewis, who will manage the new operation.

Background

During requirements modeling for the new system, Susan Park met with several senior managers and, as several Personal Finance executives. She conducted a series of interviews, reviewed company reports, discussed business operations, analyzed the database and accounting software, and reviewed a sample of sales and billing transactions. Susan's objective was to develop a list of system requirements for the proposed system.

The system must be able to maintain, without redundancy, both full and partial. Full members have access to all activities. Limited members are restricted in that they have no access to the system's database. In other words, they are not allowed to change privileges. Changes to membership and services are recorded in exchange slips, which is signed by the member.

At the end of each day, each sales and change are entered into the database and are sent to the system. The database is a computerized database. Each day, each change is entered into the database and is sent to the system. Personal Finance's database is a computerized database. Each day, each change is entered into the database and is sent to the system.

At the end of the month, the fund manager will provide a summary of accounts monthly summary to the Personal Finance headquarters in Chicago. A summary of accounts will
