Emotion, Physical Health and Longevity Andrew H. Kemp,2017-09-13 The 1990's was designated as the decade of the brain and now common mental disorders are described as brain disorders Yet intense research interest on the brain has largely sidelined the body as a passive observer disconnecting mental from physical health and contributing to further societal stigma on the nature of psychiatric illness and mental distress The biopsychosocial pathway to premature mortality or longevity is a complex one involving a host of closely intertwined mechanisms and moderating factors some of which are investigated in this special issue All the articles published here provide new insights into the pathways linking emotion physical health and longevity highlighting the tight linkage between mind brain and body Shadow Education and the Curriculum and Culture of Schooling in South Korea Young Chun Kim,2016-09-23 This book enables Western scholars and educators to recognize the roles and contributions of shadow education hakwon education in an international context The book allows readers to redefine the traditional and limited understanding of the background success behind Korean schooling and to expand their perspectives on Korean hakwon education as well as shadow education in other nations with educational power such as Japan China Singapore and Taiwan Kim exhorts readers and researchers to examine shadow education as an emerging research inquiry in the context of postcolonial and worldwide curriculum studies The

Underrepresentation of Women in Science: International and Cross-Disciplinary Evidence and Debate Stephen J. Ceci,Wendy M. Williams,Shulamit Kahn,2018-04-20 There is no shortage of articles and books exploring women's underrepresentation in science Everyone is interested academics politicians parents high school girls and boys women in search of college majors administrators working to accommodate women s educational interests the list goes on But one thing often missing is an evidence based examination of the problem uninfluenced by personal opinions accounts of lived experiences anecdotes and the always encroaching inputs of popular culture This is why this special issue of Frontiers in Psychology can make a difference In it a diverse group of authors and researchers with even more diverse viewpoints find themselves united by their empirical objective approaches to understanding women s underrepresentation in science today The questions considered within this special issue span academic disciplines methods levels of analysis and nature of analysis what these article share is their scholarly evidence based approach to understanding a key issue of our time Signal ,2014

Neuroinflammation and Behaviour Luba Sominsky,Adam K. Walker,Deborah M. Hodgson,2015-07-21 The brain and immune system are involved in an intricate network of bidirectional communication This relationship is vital for optimal physiological and psychological development and functioning but can also result in unwanted outcomes In particular this interaction plays an important role in cognition mood and behaviour Neuroinflammation is known to contribute to neurological and affective disorders including impaired learning and memory depressive anxiety and schizoaffective symptoms as well as pain The development of these conditions often occurs on the backdrop of pre existing physical illnesses which give rise to increased activation of the immune system such as cancer obesity infection and autoimmune disorders Similarly psychological states can alter regulation of the immune system This has been most extensively studied in the context of stress and immune function Understanding the underlying mechanisms that lead to the onset of inflammation induced neuropathology and stress induced immune suppression will contribute to the development of novel and effective treatment strategies for both the disease and its neurological side effects In this research topic we explored the relationship between the immune system and the brain throughout life We include both original research and review papers from animal clinical and molecular perspectives Young, Gifted and Missing Anthony G.
