

What is Poetry?

Poetry tries to connect with the reader so they understand the writer's thoughts and feelings.

Poets use lots of different words - they can be short or long, real or fake, real or imagined, emotional and unemotional, rhyming or not.

The writer has the freedom to write in any way they feel will best express their thoughts and feelings.

The Tone of the Poem

Is it a happy poem?

Is it a sad poem?

Is it an angry poem?

Is it a surprising poem?

Is it a funny poem?

Is it an exciting poem?

When the emotion of the poem has been shown, it will make the poem easier to be understood. It's important that the tone of the poem is clear.

Talking Books James Carter, 2013-01-11 Talking Books sets out to show how some of the leading children's authors of the day respond to these and other similar questions. The authors featured are Neil Ardley, Ian Beck, Helen Cresswell, Gillian Cross, Terry Deary, Berlie Doherty, Alan Durant, Brian Moses, Philip Pullman, Celia Rees, Norman Silver, Jacqueline Wilson and Benjamin Zephaniah. They discuss with great enthusiasm their childhood reading habits, how they came to be published, how they write on a daily basis, how a particular book came together, a type of writing that they are especially known for. Through in-depth interviews, they each reveal their approach to their craft. Much is known and spoken of the product that is the children's book, but it is rare that writers are given the opportunity to talk at length about the process of writing for children. Talking Books redresses the balance by presenting a wide selection of authors of fiction, non-fiction and poetry reflecting upon the joys and challenges of the craft, creativity and process of writing for children.

Routledge Handbook of African Popular Culture Grace A. Musila, 2022-05-15 This handbook brings together an international team of scholars from different disciplines to reflect on African popular cultural imaginaries. These imaginaries, in the sense of cultural productions, contexts, consumers, producers, platforms and the material, affective and discursive resources they circulate, are influential in shaping African realities. Collectively, the chapters assembled in this handbook index the genres, methods, mediums, questions and encounters that preoccupy producers, consumers and scholars of African popular cultural forms across a range of geohistorical and temporal contexts. Drawing on forms such as newspaper columns, televised English Premier League football, speculative arts, romance fiction, comedy, cinema, music and digital genres, the contributors explore the possibilities and ambiguities unleashed by the production, circulation, consumption, remediation and critique of these forms. Among the questions explored across these essays are the freedoms and constraints of popular genres, the forms of self-making, pleasure and harm that these imaginaries enable, the negotiations of multiple moral regimes in everyday life and inevitably, the fecund terrain of contradictions definitive of many popular forms which variously enable and undermine world-making. An authoritative scholarly resource on popular culture in Africa, this handbook is an essential read for students and scholars of African culture, society and media.
