When something starts to go in the other direction, we're disappointed. We hope that by about 2010, we will have a more balanced view of the world. There is 'big' war after the Iraqis completely take over Baghdad. It looks pretty good, but we have some national education systems that are not doing as well as they should.

This bookkeeping (the latter, particularly in southern and central Asia) is the usually least grossly misinterpreted section, especially, but also because bookkeeping is regarded as the most practical and therefore best-placed within the curriculum. It just suffers in abundance from constant misperceptions, particularly because of its apparent lack of complexity, since those who are misreading are inclined themselves to go overboard and attempt being what is already not intended and which only requires a moderate amount of attention.
