North West Prospectus 2015:

Amakomiti Trevor Ngwane, 2021-02-20 One of the most exciting and provocative books that I've read in a long time Mike Davis author of Planet of the Slums Can people who live in shantytowns shacks and favelas teach us anything about democracy About how to govern society in a way that is inclusive participatory and addresses popular needs This book argues that they can In a study conducted in dozens of South Africa's shack settlements where more than 9 million people live Trevor Ngwane finds thriving shack dwellers committees that govern local life are responsive to popular needs and provide a voice for the community These committees called amakomiti in the Zulu language organise the provision of basic services such as water sanitation public works and crime prevention especially during settlement establishment Amakomiti argues that contrary to common perception slum dwellers are in fact an essential part of the urban population whose political agency must be recognised and respected In a world searching for democratic alternatives that serve the many and not the few it is to the shantytowns rather than the seats of political power that we should turn One Korea Tae-Hwan Kwak, Seung-Ho Joo, 2016-11-10 On the Korean peninsula there exist two sovereign states the Republic of Korea ROK or South Korea and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea DPRK or North Korea both of whom hold separate membership at the United Nations This book discusses the construction of one Korea and highlights the potential benefits of unification for the Koreans and the international community Arguing that Korean unification is intrinsically international in nature the authors outline how the process and outcome would impact upon the policies of the four major powers the U S China Russia and Japan In addition the authors highlight the possible far reaching repercussions of unification on the political and economic dynamics of Northeast Asia Making a case for the two Koreas and interested powers to plan and orchestrate their acts for sustained peace and gradual unification on the Korean peninsula this book examines the Korean question and the related issue of peace building in Northeast Asia from a global perspective It will be of interest to students and scholars researching politics and international relations New Laboratories Charlotte Klonk, 2016-04-11 New laboratory buildings are currently being planned all around the world Are they different from or even better than their predecessors To answer this question the authors of this book have journeyed into the past and present of laboratory architecture They discuss the images of the research scientist and the laboratory that have been purveyed since the natural sciences were institutionalised in the nineteenth century They also examine contemporary architectural solutions in the light of influential laboratory architectures of the latter half of the twentieth century thereby discovering a great variety of approaches historical and contemporary for both the functional interrelation of spaces and the tension between symbolic faades and internal structures can take very different forms Race and the Wild West Laura J. Arata, 2020-07-02 Winner of the Western Writers of America SPUR Award and the Western Association of Women Historians Gita Chaudhuri Prize Born a slave in eastern Tennessee Sarah Blair Bickford 1852-1931 made her way while still a teenager to Montana Territory where she settled in the mining boomtown of Virginia City Race and the Wild West is the first full length biography of this remarkable woman whose life story affords new insight into race and belonging in the American West around the turn of the twentieth century For many years Sarah Bickford s known biography fit into a single paragraph By examining her life in all its complexity Arata fills in what were long believed to be unrecoverable silent spaces in her story Before establishing herself as a successful business owner we learn she was twice married both times to white men Her first husband an Irish immigrant physically abused her until she divorced him in 1881 Their three children all died before the age of ten In 1883 she married Stephen Bickford and gave birth to four more children Upon his death she inherited his shares of the Virginia City Water Company acquiring sole ownership in 1917 For the final decade of her life Bickford actively preserved and promoted a historic Virginia City building best known as the site of the brutal lynching in 1864 of five men Her conspicuous role in developing an early form of heritage tourism challenges long standing narratives that place white men at the center of the Wild West myth and its promotion Bickford s story offers a window into the dynamics of race in the rural West Although her experiences defy easy categorization what is clear is that her navigation of social norms and racial barriers did not hinge on exceptionalism or tokenism Instead she built a life that deserves to be understood on its own terms Through exhaustive research and nuanced analysis Laura J Arata advances our understanding of a woman whose life embodied the contradictory intersections of hope and disappointment that characterized life in the early twentieth century American West for brave pioneers of many races
