Haigh,Marta Marcos,Sönke Dangendorf,Francisco Calafat,2017-04-27 In June 2015 we held a workshop on the beautiful island of Mallorca Spain with a focus on sea level variability and change Over 120 sea level experts from around the world attended this workshop from a range of different disciplines The main aims of the workshop were to 1 Evaluate the current state of knowledge of sea level science 2 Identify gaps and unresolved questions in any aspect of sea level science and 3 Design future research to address these issue All aspects of sea level changes were covered from global to regional observations and modelling processes driving mean sea level changes and extremes from the geological scale to the instrumental era and future projections and including impacts on the coastal zones This E Book presents papers that came out of that workshop Overall these papers illustrate the multi disciplinary nature of sea level research cross cutting many fields of research including oceanography meteorology geology coastal morphodynamics engineering and the social economic aspects Collectively theses articles represent an interesting range of perspectives and original studies that contribute to understanding the dynamic nature of sea level and its impacts across a wide range of time and space scales Enjoy reading them Africa in the Age of Globalisation Assoc Prof Edward Shizha,Assoc Prof Lamine Diallo,2015-04-28 This is a collection of bold and visionary scholarship that reveals an insightful exposition of re visioning African development from African perspectives It provides educators policy makers social workers non governmental agencies and development agencies with an interdisciplinary conceptual base that can effectively guide them in planning and implementing programs for socio economic development in Africa The book provides up to date scholarly research on continental trends on various subjects and concerns of paramount importance to globalisation and development in Africa politics democracy education gender technology global relationships and the role of non governmental organisations The authors challenge the familiar paradigms in order to show how imperfectly if at all assumptions about globalisation and development theories have failed in their depictions and applications to Africa The scholars in this volume both inform and advocate for a re visioning of perceptions on Africa and how it navigates global processes      Towards Democratic Development States in Southern Africa Kanyenze, Godfrey, Jauch, Herbert, 2016-12-14 The dawn of the twenty first century heralded an apparent change of fortunes for most sub Saharan African economies with annual growth averaging over 5% for fifteen years However this was not accompanied by structural transformation poverty food insecurity unemployment and inequality persist Structural transformation has not been and indeed cannot be delivered by market forces and neoliberal economic policies it requires a state committed to development and to achieving it in a democratic way To what extent do the countries of Southern Africa exhibit the characteristics of such a developmental state What steps if any do they need to take in order to become one The book answers the questions with respect to South Africa Botswana Namibia Zimbabwe Angola and Malawi Godfrey Kanyenze and his colleagues have assembled a distinguished team of writers to take the temperature of the regional political economy and chart a path for its future development      Water and Soil in Holy Matrimony? Munyaradzi Mabeza, Christopher, 2017-02-10 This book is a biography based on a qualitative ethnographic study of adaptation to climate by Mr Zephaniah Phiri Maseko an award winning smallholder farmer from Zvishavane rural Zimbabwe Ethnographic data provides insight and lessons of Mr Phiri Maseko and other farmers practices for rethinking existing strategies for adaptation to climate change The concept of adaptation is probed in relationship to the closely related concepts of vulnerability resilience and innovation This study also explores the concept of conviviality and argues that Mr Phiri Maseko s adaptation to climate hinges on mediating barriers between local and exogenous knowledge systems The book argues that Mr Phiri Maseko offered tangible adaptive climate strategies through his innovations that marry water and soil so that it won t elope and run off but raise a family on his plot His agricultural practices are anchored on the Shona concept of hurudza an exceptionally productive farmer This book explores the concept and practices of uhurudza to suggest that the latter day hurudza commercial farmer as embodied by Mr Phiri Maseko offers an important set of resources for the development of climate adaptation strategies in the region This study of smallholder farmers adoption of innovations to climate highlights the complex interplay of multiple factors that act as barriers to uptake Such interplay of multiple stressors increases the vulnerability of smallholders The study concludes by arguing that in as much as the skewed colonial land policy impoverished the smallholder farmers Mr Phiri Maseko nonetheless redefined himself as a latter day hurudza and thus breaks free from the poverty cycle by conjuring ingenious ways of reducing vulnerability to climate The book does not suggest that Mr Phiri Maseko s innovations offer a silver bullet solution to the insecure rural livelihoods of smallholder farmers nevertheless they are a source of hope in an environment of uncertainty His steely tenacity in the face of a multi stressor environment is to be treasured      The Thika Highway Improvement Project Renard Teipelke, 2013-12-04 Theory and practice of high capacity infrastructure projects are the major focus in the development of countries in the Global South Aiming at a more fine grained understanding of such projects Renard Teipelke studies the Thika Highway Improvement Project THIP and its outcomes in the peri urban Northern Nairobi Metropolitan Region The THIP is a large transportation infrastructure project that expanded the dual carriageway Thika Road into an eight lane highway from 2008 until 2012 Based on a strategic mix of methodological approaches such as interviews with experts in Kenya literature research and field visits the black box THIP is opened up In the empirical analysis the project s idea its design and its implementation are studied It is concluded that the project s outcomes are ambivalent partly living up to the expectations of THIP proponents but not resulting in shared benefits for all concerned stakeholders due to flaws in managing the development in this peri urban transport corridor area thereby fitting into the Kenyan context of politics and planning

Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility Un-Habitat, 2013-10-30 Urban transport systems worldwide are faced by a multitude of challenges Among the most visible of these are the traffic gridlocks experienced on city roads and highways all over the world The prescribed solution to transport problems in most cities has thus been to build more infrastructures for cars with a limited number of cities improving public transport systems in a sustainable manner However a number of challenges faced by urban transport systems such as greenhouse gas emissions noise and air pollution and road traffic accidents do not necessarily get solved by the construction of new infrastructure Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility argues that the development of sustainable urban transport systems requires a conceptual leap The purpose of transportation and mobility is to gain access to destinations activities services and goods Thus access is the ultimate objective of transportation As a result urban planning and design should focus on how to bring people and places together by creating cities that focus on accessibility rather than simply increasing the length of urban transport infrastructure or increasing the movement of people or goods Urban form and the functionality of the city are therefore a major focus of this report which highlights the importance of integrated land use and transport planning This new report of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme UN Habitat the world's leading authority on urban issues provides some thought provoking insights and policy recommendations on how to plan and design sustainable urban mobility systems The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date global assessment of human settlements conditions and trends Preceding issues of the report have addressed such topics as Cities in a Globalizing World The Challenge of Slums Financing Urban Shelter Enhancing Urban Safety and Security Planning Sustainable Cities and Cities and Climate Change

Wyk,Yongxin Xu,2022-08-05 This book combines the results of the research activities in the assessment of water resources environment and an integrated water resource monitoring program to support preservation efforts of the aquatic environment of the Cradle of Humankind COH World Heritage Sites A poor understanding of the surface and groundwater resources of the COH property has precipitated often alarmist reporting in the media regarding the negative impacts associated with various sources of poor quality water The most notable of these is the acid mine drainage threat to karst ecosystems and fossil sites across the property These circumstances have generated wide and considerable concern for the preservation of the UNESCO inscribed fossil sites and integrity of the water resources of the property 21st Century

Foresight Ozcan Saritas,Alexander Sokolov,Mlungisi Cele,2024-12-29 Using a new methodology for foresight studies this book presents new findings and policy recommendations to improve living conditions and make progress toward achieving the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs Using the case of South Africa the respective chapters show how social and economic challenges can be addressed in an inclusive and sustainable way The book also provides guidelines for practitioners by introducing them to cutting edge ways of formulating Science Technology and Innovation STI policies The new foresight methodology uses a combination of qualitative and quantitative methods including horizon scanning and scenario planning as well as big data analysis scientometric and semantic methods The innovative approaches developed throughout the book are subsequently demonstrated using a national foresight study in South Africa The outputs and outcomes generated by the study can be used to inform the identification and selection of priorities for the next decadal plan for STI The book offers a valuable asset for emerging and developing economies in Africa and around the world in terms of tackling the grand challenges of the 21st century such as water food energy climate change health and education Whales and Elephants in International Conservation Law and Politics Ed Couzens,2013-11-07 Whales and elephants are iconic giants of the marine and terrestrial animal world Both are conspicuous representatives of wildlife conservation The issues of whaling and the ivory trade are closely linked both legally and politically in many ways some obvious and some surprising The treatment of both whales and elephants will be politically and legally contentious for years to come and is of great significance to conservation in general This book examines the current state of international environmental law and wildlife conservation through a comparative analysis of the treatment of whales and elephants In particular it describes the separate histories of international governance of both whales and elephants presenting the various treaties through which conservation has been implemented It is shown that international environmental law is influenced and shaped by important political actors many with opposing views on how best conservation and sustainable development principles are to be implemented Modern environmental treaties are changing as weaknesses and loopholes are exposed in older and possibly outdated treaties such as the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora CITES and the International Convention for the Regulation of Whaling ICRW Such weaknesses can be seen in the efforts made by some states to circumvent or weaken CITES and the International Whaling Commission and to resume commercial whaling and further in the efforts of countries to resume trade in ivory The argument is made that the Convention on Biological Diversity could be used to begin reconciling opposed views and to focus conservation efforts The argument is made that effective conservation of species cannot be achieved through individual treaties but only through a synergistic approach involving multilateral environmental agreements ecosystems of legal instruments

Socio-Spatial Small Town Dynamics in South Africa Ronnie Donaldson, 2023-07-14 This book explores small town geographical aspects by approaching them from a socio spatial perspective The contributions included in this book delve into a range of topics that have not been commonly studied before such as white privilege neglect of municipal infrastructure collaborative governance livelihoods in small scale fisheries housing provision well being in mining towns studentification in rural contexts election trends and the historical development of small town spas The book adopts a socio spatial point of view providing a holistic understanding of the interplay between social and spatial factors within selected small town case studies This approach sheds light on the socio economic political and cultural dynamics that shape small towns This localized perspective allows for a more targeted analysis of issues and potential solutions taking into account the specific historical cultural and political contexts of small town South Africa The edited volume serves as a valuable resource for academics policymakers practitioners and anyone interested in understanding and improving small towns in South Africa

The Politics of Potential Michelle Pentecost, 2024-01-12 The first one thousand days of human life or the period between conception and age two is one of the most pivotal periods of human development Optimizing nutrition during this time not only prevents childhood malnutrition but also determines future health and potential The Politics of Potential examines early life interventions in the first one thousand days of life in South Africa drawing on fieldwork from international conferences government offices health care facilities and the everyday lives of fifteen women and their families in Cape Town Michelle Pentecost explores various aspects of a politics of potential a term that underlines the first one thousand days concept and its effects on clinical care and the lives of childbearing women in South Africa Why was the First One Thousand Days project so readily adopted by South Africa and many other countries Pentecost not only explores this question but also discusses the science of intergenerational transmissions of health disease and human capital and how this constitutes new forms of intergenerational responsibility The women who are the target of first one thousand days interventions are cast as both vulnerable and responsible for the health of future generations such that despite its history intergenerational responsibility in South Africa remains entrenched in powerfully gendered and racialized ways

Utterly Immoral Simon Keable-Elliott, 2022-11-28 When Robert Keable's First World War novel Simon Called Peter was published critics called it offensive a libel and reeking of drink and lust Scott Fitzgerald suggested it was utterly immoral and referenced it in The Great Gatsby

Life after Violence Peter Uvin, 2013-04-04 Burundi has recently emerged from twelve years of devastating civil war Its economy has been destroyed and hundreds and thousands of people have been killed In this book the voices of ordinary Burundians are heard for the first time Farmers artisans traders mothers soldiers and students talk about the past and the future war and peace their hopes for a better life and their relationships with each other and the state Young men in particular often seen as the cause of violence and war talk about the difficulties of living up to standards of masculinity in an impoverished and war torn society Weaving a rich tapestry Peter Uvin pitches the ideas and aspirations of people on the ground against the theory and assumptions often made by the international development and peace building agencies and organisations In doing this he illuminates both shared goals and misunderstandings This groundbreaking book on conflict and society in Africa will have profound repercussions for development across the world Engendering Democracy in Africa Niamh Gaynor,2022-06-01 This book investigates women s political participation in Africa Going beyond the formal institutions of electoral politics it explores a range of spaces where everyday politics take place at national and at local levels In recent years there have been significant improvements in the number of women elected to parliament in Africa However there is little indication that this is translating into better developmental outcomes and indeed there is mounting evidence that it could in fact help to bolster some authoritarian regimes Starting from the premise that politics is a far broader project than securing a seat in national or local legislatures alone this book explores the opportunities for women s political participation across a number of informal spaces where women and men gather organise and interact in a more regular and systematic manner Combining insights from political science sociology and feminist theory and drawing on detailed cases from the Congo Kenya Malawi Nigeria and Rwanda it examines how power in its multiple dimensions circulates across a range of everyday political spaces while drawing attention to the links between domestic gender inequalities and the global political economy Inviting scholars practitioners and activists to broaden their focus beyond formal electoral institutions if they want to support women to become more politically active this book provides fresh insights into major issues at the heart of African studies development studies gender and development democratisation and international relations Self-Directed Learning for the 21st
