

JANUARY ... DOES IT BRING YOU JOY?

- 1 January is the time for renewal on many fronts. It's the time of the year to re-evaluate everything. If something or someone doesn't bring you joy, it's pretty pointless carrying on with it. If we want the best, we must do our best. We must keep our family space safe and secure so that we are thriving as a people and as a nation. 5
- 2 In order to live their best lives, people are spreading themselves thinner and thinner with multiple streams of income. In the process we earn more but live less, we lose our focus of what is important.
- 3 With social media, keeping up with other Instagrammers are having a devastating effect on self-perception. Everything appears to be real perfect, but the fabric of our society is frazzled. Use January to take stock and start navigating new ways of doing things. Instead of multiple streams of sole sessions, travel more, and connect with people and places that bring you joy. 10

November 2013 Question Paper English :

Literature Education in the Asia-Pacific Chin Ee Loh, Suzanne S. Choo, Catherine Beavis, 2018-03-29 The continual rise of English as a global lingua franca has meant that English literature both as a discipline and as a tool in ESL and EFL classrooms is being used in varied ways outside the inner circle of English. This edited collection provides an overview of English literature education in the Asia Pacific in global times, bringing to international attention a rich understanding of the trends, issues and challenges specific to nations within the Asia Pacific region. Comprising contributions from Australia, China, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore and Vietnam, the collection addresses the diversity of learners in different national cultural and teaching contexts. In doing so, it provides insights into historical and current trends in literature education, foregrounds specific issues and challenges in policymaking and implementation, presents practical matters concerning text selection, use of literature in the language classroom, innovative practices in literature education and raises pressing and important questions about the nature, purpose and importance of literature education in global times.

Reforming Literature Education in Malaysia 1957 - 2020 Jia Wei Lim, 2024-08-12 Lim traces the complexities in construction and implementation of a school subject, namely Literature in English in Malaysia, through a focused and grounded narrative where tensions regarding identity, reader response and conceptualisations about literature play out in a postcolonial context. The book demonstrates the need to think about school subjects as abstract concepts negotiated at various levels, be it during curriculum construction or in the classroom. These conceptualisations of the subject are further influenced by contemporary concerns and sociopolitical changes over time. As such, the scope of this book ranges from pre-independence Malaysia, then Malaya, from the 1950s till the current phase of the subject's development in the 21st century. The volume illustrates the complex interplay of historical, cultural and social influences on the conceptualisation of English literature as a school subject in Malaysia. Lim traces, examines and interprets its development as an elective subject in the context of post-secondary Malaysian education and engages with current trends in education such as internationalization and standardized assessment. Lim also highlights the importance of teacher and student lived experiences to argue that personal conceptualisations of the school subject are actualized and negotiated in classroom discourse. Offering unique insights into studying Literature in English in a postcolonial context, the book will appeal to researchers, students and practitioners in the fields of history of education, curriculum reform and literature education.

Life and Death in Early Modern Philosophy Susan James, 2021-09-07 This book sets out to convey the breadth of philosophical interest in life and death during the early modern period It ranges over debates in metaphysics the life sciences as we now call them epistemology the philosophy of mathematics philosophical psychology the philosophy of religion the philosophy of education and ethics At the same time it aims to illuminate the relationships between the problems explored under these headings Much of the fascination of early modern discussions of life and death lies in the way apparently disparate commitments merge into strange and unfamiliar outlooks and challenge some of our most deeply rooted assumptions In recent years there has been a wave of interest in the place of the life sciences within early modern natural philosophy and biological questions about life and death form part of the subject matter discussed in these chapters But Life and Death in Early Modern Philosophy has a further ambition to link the predominantly theoretical preoccupations associated with the study of organisms to the practical aspect of philosophy Instead of giving priority to themes that anticipate the preoccupations of modern science the volume aims to remind us that philosophy as our early modern predecessors understood it was also about learning how to live and how to die this above all is why life and death mattered to them
