Possibilities and Complexities of Decolonising Higher Education Aneta Hayes, Kathy Luckett, Greg William Misiaszek, 2023-03-31 The chapters in this book highlight the possibilities and complexities of putting decolonial theory to work in higher education in Northern and Southern contexts across the globe This book looks at decolonial work as praxis involving transformation at a range of levels from theoretical development national policy institutional policy and culture academic discipline programme course classroom student and the self Our authors argue that praxis in their contexts includes working at institutional level to undo the historical power of coloniality in universities in the metropolises introducing Indigenous knowledges into curricula and undoing the effects of coloniality in embodiment temporality and whiteness We as editors argue for the need for transformation of the self as well as structures and highlight qualities such as reflexivity on our own entanglements with coloniality and why they occur in this undoing The approach offered in this book emphasises the connection between significant personal change as a pre condition and an epistemological process to connect critical decolonial theory and our teaching practice The book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Teaching in Higher Education
