Economics Of Environment, Climate Change, And Wine: Selected Papers Of Robert N Stavins, Volume 3 (2011-2023)

Robert N Stavins, 2025-04-29 Robert N Stavins has been one of the most influential voices in environmental economics and policy over the past three decades. Written by Stavins and his co-authors, the selected articles and essays in this book were originally published in a diverse set of leading scholarly periodicals. They are collected here for the first time. The book begins with an introductory essay where Stavins reflects on the professional path leading to his research and writing, identifying common themes that emerged from his research. This book discusses environmental policy in detail, unpacking policy instruments and scrutinizing both domestic and international policy. Policies are examined in relation to The Paris Agreement. It concludes with a section on wine production and consumption. This is the third volume of Stavins' selected papers, following Volume 1 (1988-1999) and Volume 2 (2000-2011). Students, scholars, practitioners, and policymakers will find this volume a very valuable and useful addition to their collection.

Web and Internet Economics Evangelos Markakis, Guido Schäfer, 2015-12-07 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed proceedings of the 11th International Conference on Web and Internet Economics (WINE 2015) held in Amsterdam, The Netherlands, in December 2015. The 30 regular papers presented together with 8 abstracts were carefully reviewed and selected from 142 submissions and cover results on incentives and computation in theoretical computer science, artificial intelligence, and microeconomics.

Entry Costs and the Macroeconomy Germán Gutiérrez, Callum Jones, Mr. Thomas Philippon, 2019-11-01 We combine a structural model with cross-sectional micro data to identify the causes and consequences of rising concentration in the US economy. Using asset prices and industry data, we estimate realized and anticipated shocks that drive entry and concentration. We validate our approach by showing that the model-implied entry shocks correlate with independently constructed measures of entry regulations and MAs. We conclude that entry costs have risen in the US over the past 20 years and have depressed capital and consumption by about seven percent.

Adapt and Be Adept Terry L. Anderson, 2021-04-01 How can markets help us adapt to the challenges of climate change? Editor Terry L. Anderson brings together this collection of essays featuring the work of nine leading policy analysts who argue that market forces are just as important as government regulation in shaping climate policy and should be at the heart of our response to helping societies adapt to climate change. Anderson notes in his introduction that most current climate policies, such as the Paris Agreement, require hard-to-enforce collective action and focus on reducing or mitigating greenhouse gases rather than adapting to their negative effects. Adaptive actions can typically deliver much more faster and more cheaply than any realistic climate policy. The authors tackle a range of issues: the hidden costs of renewable energy sources, the political obstacles surrounding climate change policy, insurance and financial instruments for pricing risk of exposure to the effects of climate change, and more. Reliance on emerging renewable energies and a carbon tax are not enough to prevent the effects of global warming, they argue. We must encourage more private action.
