about the sayings anecdotes and stories of these desert monks based on her reading of a wide range of texts written in Greek Coptic and Latin between the third and seventh centuries including letters treatises and philosophical and practical instructions for monastic life This material speaks to the interdependence between humans and other animals and between humans and the environment The author highlights the ways in which monks wrestled with the sounds of the desert and how they used these to cultivate a quality of inner listening She invites her readers to reflect with her on what we might learn about our own world from their experience and stories how in the midst of our cacophonous surroundings we might cultivate a sense of inner quietude And how we might grapple with the tensions that those early monks also felt between the pulls of solitude and community Accompanying this book are a set of audio recordings the author made in desert environments
