Recent Advances in Geomicrobiology of the Ocean Crust Beth N. Orcutt, Jason B. Sylvan, Cara M. Santelli, 2017-09-29 Igneous oceanic crust is one of the largest potential habitats for life on earth and microbial activity supported by rock water microbe reactions in this environment can impact global biogeochemical cycles However our understanding of the microbiology of this system especially the subsurface deep biosphere component of it has traditionally been limited by sample availability and quality Over the past decade several major international programs such as the Center for Dark Energy Biosphere Investigations the current International Ocean Discovery Program and its predecessor Integrated Ocean Drilling Program and the Deep Carbon Observatory have focused on advancing our understanding of life in this cryptic yet globally relevant biosphere Additionally many field and laboratory research programs are examining hydrothermal vent systems a seafloor expression of seawater that has been thermally and chemically altered in subseafloor crust and the microbial communities supported by these mineral rich fluids The Frontiers in Microbiology 3 September 2017 Recent Advances in Geomicrobiology of the Ocean Crust papers in this special issue bring together recent discoveries of microbial presence diversity and activity in these dynamic ocean environments Cumulatively the articles in this special issue serve as a tribute to the late Dr Katrina J Edwards who was a pioneer and profound champion of studying microbes that rust the crust This special issue volume serves as a foundation for the continued exploration of the subsurface ocean crust deep biosphere

Coastal and Deep Ocean Pollution Andres Hugo Arias, Sandra Elizabeth Botte, 2020-03-10 During the recent decades social political and academic endeavours have been made to improve environmental quality and reduce pollution In particular the ocean sea and coastal areas show varying degrees of impact from the multiple human activities carried out in the terrestrial as well as in the aquatic environment Ecology is a science which studies the relationship between organisms and the surrounding environment and in the modern era the marine world is getting increasing attention For centuries it has been the final reservoir of human garbage later it became an oil farm with a concomitant increase of coastal population growth and unplanned growth of the fishing industry and the increasing use of sea routes for cargo transport and recreational uses cruises All this led to rising contamination with negative effects on biota and even human health It is then imperative to know the current situation of the world's oceans that is the main purpose of this book to document at a glance the latest research in the field of ocean pollution

Learning and Reconciliation Through Indigenous Education in Oceania Pangelinan, Perry Jason Camacho, McVey, Troy, 2021-12-10 The mission of higher education in the 21st century must address the reconciliation of student learning and experiences through the lens of indigenous education and frameworks Higher learning institutions throughout the oceanic countries have established frameworks for addressing indigeneity through the infusion of an indigenous perspectives curriculum The incorporation of island indigenous frameworks into their respective curriculums colleges and universities in the oceanic countries has seen positive impact results on student learning leading to the creation of authentic experiences in higher education landscapes Learning and Reconciliation Through Indigenous Education in Oceania discusses ways of promoting active student learning and unique experiences through indigenous scholarship and studies among contemporary college students It seeks to provide an understanding of the essential link between practices for incorporating island indigenous curriculum strategies for effective student learning and course designs which are aligned with frameworks that address indigeneity and that place college teachers in the role of leaders for lifelong learning through indigenous scholarship and studies in Oceania It is ideal for professors practitioners researchers scholars academicians students administrators curriculum developers and classroom designers Envisioning

Advances in Ocean Exploration Adam Soule, Daniel Wagner, Aurora Elmore, Leila J. Hamdan, 2024-09-20

The ocean covers more than 70% of the Earth's surface and encompasses 99% of its habitable volume yet is largely unexplored. However, new technologies, approaches, and a growing recognition of the ocean's role in sustaining the health, wealth, and security of modern society has spurred a rapid acceleration in ocean exploration and discovery. Past ocean exploration efforts have fundamentally impacted our view of the bounds of life on the planet, the human-ocean relationship, and the Earth's inner workings, and many more discoveries yet remain. The varied stakeholders for ocean exploration are exemplified in many of the UN Ocean Decade challenges that require generating baseline knowledge to expose ocean regions and processes not yet constrained. As more of the deep ocean is explored, we gain important insight into scientifically and societally relevant questions including the distribution of ocean organisms and ecosystems, seafloor mineralization, chemical cycling, and the role of the oceans in global climate. Ocean exploration benefits from deep integration across disciplinary boundaries and careful coordination between stakeholders and explorers. This volume brings together scientists, engineers, and educators across disciplinary boundaries towards the common goal of mapping and characterizing unknown parts of the ocean. To meet the tremendous challenge of exploring the world's oceans will require the incorporation of new technologies and approaches that enhance the efficiency of exploration, adopt the latest developments in autonomy, and recognize the value of ocean exploration for society's benefit. This current topic provides an overview of the latest data, results, and innovations along with an assessment of the current gaps in ocean exploration in order to focus the community's efforts and enhance the spread of current innovations. We invite contributions that describe advances in ocean exploration including, but not limited to:

- Assessments of and novel approaches to identifying exploration gaps and targets
- Descriptions of novel vehicle systems that utilize autonomy and artificial intelligence to enhance ocean exploration
- Development of new sensors and samplers that offer opportunities for scaling up ocean exploration and minimizing impact to ocean environments
- Approaches to accessing difficult to reach and challenging subsea environments for exploration
- The synergies of combining uncrewed systems with human expertise
- New methods for analyzing and interpreting ocean data that create new scientific outcomes and enhance data use
- Approaches to engaging a more diverse ocean exploration community including the indigenous communities adjacent to ocean exploration targets
- Evaluations of ocean exploration impact on issues of high societal relevance
