Dewey and European Education Jürgen Oelkers, Heinz Rhyn, 2012-12-06 Although John Dewey's ideas have been of central interest in Anglo Saxon philosophy and history of education it is only recently that similar interest has developed in continental Europe Deweyan philosophy of education has had to pass through national filters which meant that it was received in national contexts of reform The German Dewey was differently construed to the French Italian or English Dewey This seems to change after 1989 and the fall of socialist education when interest in Dewey increased The new political and philosophical interest in Dewey has to do with the lost alternative socialism and thus with the opening of Eastern Europe and the new problems of education within a worldwide community This volume stresses two points The original interest of European education in Dewey will be presented in case studies concerning different national contexts and thus different Dewey's What can be called the renewal of interest will be argued from different sides It is our intention to show that today's interest in Dewey is not the remake of the reception within the different camps of progressive education This volume will be of interest to philosophers of education historians of education and people engaged in the philosophy history and the reception of Dewey uses the Gramscian concept of political activism to provide this much needed perspective As Arab societies have had a similar historical development and trajectory to the society Gramsci was analyzing his ideas are shown to be particularly relevant for understanding the post 2011 democratization and politicization of Islamist and Salafi movements Based on the case study of the Tunisian Islamist movement al Nahda and the Tunisian Salafi movement Ansar al Sharia political Islam is given a useful explanatory framework to explain how the ideological theological side of Islamic activism realizes itself into practical political action The book establishes the term Islamic politics to describe this combination of socio religious mobilization commonly defined as dawa and political organization including party or revolutionary organizations Furthermore the authors show that Islamists and Salafists can be described as post Islamist in the same way communist parties became post communist and post ideological Written by two renowned experts on political Islam the innovative theoretical framework used here can explain the development and behaviour of Islamist groups in other contexts moving scholarship beyond traditional approaches
