

Chapter 4 Case Study: Personal Finance, Inc. Data-Pooling Summary

Below is the summary of information that resulted:

Personal Finance, Inc. owns and operates Mutual Finance, a direct life insurance sales. This company has about 200,000 and that company is planning an international expansion by opening a new "subsidiary" in the British area. Personal Finance president, Charles L. Hall, asked an IT consultant, Susan Park, to help develop an information system for that new facility. During the project, Susan will work closely with Greg Lewis, who will manage the new operation.

Background

During requirements modeling for the new system, Susan Park met with financial system manager and an eventual Personal Finance executive. She conducted a series of interviews, reviewed company records, discussed business operations, analyzed the financial data processing workflow, and identified a complex of rules and billing transactions. Susan's objective was to develop a list of system requirements for the proposed system.

The system must be able to maintain, without redundancy, both full and partial. Full members have access to all activities. Limited members are restricted in activities they have sufficient authority to participate in. Full members pay a regular fee. Full members have a change privilege. Changes in membership and services are recorded on exchange slips, which is signed by the member.

At the end of each day, each rule and change are entered on the financial data processing system. The financial data processing system is used to process daily rule changes and information about the system. Personal Finance president, Charles L. Hall, requested that the system be able to report on a daily, all activities.

At the end of the month, the financial manager uses financial data processing system to generate monthly summary of the Personal Finance transactions and changes, which are then entered on
