Finkelstein, 2008-12-15 Higher education is becoming destabilized in the face of extraordinarily rapid change The composition of the academy's most valuable asset the faculty and the essential nature of faculty work are being transformed Jack H Schuster and Martin J Finkelstein describe the transformation of the American faculty in the most extensive and ambitious analysis of the American academic profession undertaken in a generation A century ago the American research university emerged as a new organizational form animated by the professionalized discipline based scholar The research university model persisted through two world wars and greatly varying economic conditions In recent years however a new order has surfaced organized around a globalized knowledge based economy powerful privatization and market forces and stunning new information technologies These developments have transformed the higher education enterprise in ways barely imaginable in generations past At the heart of that transformation but largely invisible has been a restructuring of academic appointments academic work and academic careers a reconfiguring widely decried but heretofore inadequately described This volume depicts the scope and depth of the transformation combining empirical data drawn from three decades of national higher education surveys The authors portrait at once startling and disturbing provides the context for interpreting these developments as part of a larger structural evolution of the national higher education system They outline the stakes for the nation and the challenging work to be done Digest of Education Statistics ,2011 Contains information on a variety of subjects within the field of education statistics including the number of schools and colleges enrollments teachers graduates educational attainment finances Federal funds for education libraries international education and research and development

Critical Appraisal of Physical Science as a Human Enterprise Mansoor

Niaz,2009-02-07 It is generally believed that doing science means accumulating empirical data with no or little reference to the interpretation of the data based on the scientist's theoretical framework or presuppositions Holton 1969a has deplored the widely accepted myth experimenticism according to which progress in science is presented as the inexorable result of the pursuit of logically sound conclusions from unambiguous experimental data Surprisingly some of the leading scientists themselves Millikan is a good example have contributed to perpetuate the myth with respect to modern science being essentially empirical that is carefully tested experimental facts free of a priori conceptions leading to inductive generalizations

Based on the existing knowledge in a field of research a scientist formulates the guiding assumptions Laudan et al 1988 presuppositions Holton 1978 1998 and hard core Lakatos 1970 of the research program that constitutes the imperative of presuppositions which is not abandoned in the face of anomalous data Laudan and his group consider the following paraphrase of Kant by Lakatos as an important guideline philosophy of science without history of science is empty Starting in the 1960s this historical school has attempted to redraw and replace the positivist or logical empiricist image of science that dominated for the first half of the twentieth century Among other aspects one that looms large in these studies is that of guiding assumptions and has considerable implications for the main thesis of this monograph Chapter 2
