Belinda Walzer Ban Wang Julia Watson Gillian Whitlock and Sarah Winter Surrounded Rhoda Ann Kanaaneh, 2008-10-10

An estimated 3 000 Palestinian citizens of Israel currently volunteer to serve in the Israeli military a force fighting other Palestinians just miles away in occupied territories Surrounded takes a close look at this controversial group of soldiers examining the complex reasons these people join the army and the wider implications of their decisions in terms of security and citizenship Most observers perceive a clear and powerful divide in the political tensions and open hostilities between the State of Israel and the Palestinian people but often fail to notice those who straddle this divide Palestinian citizens of Israel These soldiers comprise no more than half a percent of this population but their stories provide a powerful vantage point from which to consider a question faced by all Palestinians in Israel to what extent are they in fact Israeli Surrounded contains over seventy interviews with soldiers and provides a unique glimpse of their conflicting experiences of acceptance integration and marginalization within the Israeli military Concluding with comparisons to similar situations around the world the book upends nationalist understandings of how wars and those who fight in them work A key to a more complex understanding of ethnic conflict this gripping and revealing look at a select group of soldiers will immensely alter ideas about the reasons why people choose to fight particularly on the wrong side of a war The Returns of Zionism Gabriel Piterberg, 2020-05-05

In this original and wide ranging study Gabriel Piterberg examines the ideology and literature behind the colonization of Palestine from the late nineteenth century to the present Exploring Zionism's origins in Central Eastern European nationalism and settler movements he shows how its texts can be placed within a wider discourse of western colonization Revisiting the work of Theodor Herzl and Gershom Scholem Anita Shapira and David Ben Gurion and bringing to light the writings of lesser known scholars and thinkers influential in the formation of the Zionist myth Piterberg breaks open prevailing views of Zionism demonstrating that it was in fact unexceptional expressing a consciousness and imagination typical of colonial settler movements Shaped by European ideological currents and the realities of colonial life Zionism constructed its own story as a unique and impregnable one in the process excluding the voices of an indigenous people the Palestinian Arabs Israel in Exile Ranen Omer-Sherman, 2010-10-01

Israel in Exile is a bold exploration of how the ancient desert of Exodus and Numbers as archetypal site of human liberation forms a template for modern political identities radical skepticism and questioning of official narratives of the nation that appear in the works of contemporary Israeli authors including David Grossman Shulamith Hareven and Amos Oz as well as diasporic writers such as Edmund Jabes and Simone Zelitch In contrast to other ethnic and national representations Jewish writers since antiquity have not constructed a neat antithesis between the desert and the city or nation rather the desert becomes a symbol against which the values of the city or nation can be tested measured and sometimes found wanting This book examines how the ethical tension between the clashing Mosaic and Davidic paradigms of the desert still reverberate in secular Jewish literature and produce fascinating literary rewards Omer Sherman ultimately argues that the ancient encounter with the desert acquires a renewed urgency in response to the crisis brought about by national identities and territorial conflicts Debunking the Myths of Colonization Samar Attar, 2010-04-13 Debunking the Myths of Colonization examines Salman Rushdie's thesis on the paradoxical nature of colonialism and its horrific impact on the psyche of the colonized. It probes Frantz Fanon's theories concerning the relationship between colonizers and colonized and attempts to apply these theories to modern Arabic literature. Like Rushdie and Fanon, many Arab writers have embarked on a journey to the metropolis of their ex-colonial masters. Due to their encounter with English or French culture, they have written memoirs, poems, or fictions in which they have represented themselves and the other. Their representations differ markedly according to their own make-up as human beings, their class, education, experiences, and gender. Yet what brings them together is their love-hate relationship with the ex-colonizer. In the case of the Palestinian writers, however, there is only bitterness and bewilderment at Israel as a colonizing power in the 21st century and its Jewish citizens who were once victims in Europe but now have turned into victimizers.

Oyola, 2018-03-09 Implicit conceptions of time associated with progress and linearity have influenced scholars and practitioners in the fields of transitional justice and peacebuilding, but time and temporality have rarely been systematically considered. Time and Temporality in Transitional and Post-Conflict Societies examines how time is experienced, constructed, and used in transitional and post-conflict societies. This collection critically questions linear transitional justice and highlights the different temporalities that exist at local and institutional levels through original empirical research. Presenting empirical and often ethnographic research from Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Cambodia, Mozambique, Palestine, Israel, Rwanda, and South Africa, contributors use a temporal lens to investigate key issues including transitional justice, institutions, peace processes, victimhood, perpetrators, accountability, reparations, forgiveness, reconciliation, and memorialisation. This timely monograph will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as postdoctoral researchers interested in fields such as political science, international relations, anthropology, transitional justice, and conflict resolution. It will also be relevant to conflict resolution and peacebuilding practitioners. Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003-04 Heeb, 2002
