Writers and Nations Mohammed Ghazi Alghamdi, 2021-10-12 Writers and Nations The Case of American and Saudi Literatures examines how the concept of the nation in nineteenth century American literature and twentieth century and contemporary Saudi Arabian literature is represented in an array of relevant works Reading their works gives us a sense of their conceptions of nation as a political and or a social community Writers examined in this book often see the nation as a threat to marginalized groups due to its cultural religious and political constraints Writers tend to represent the tension between individuals and communities as a significant key to understanding a particular nation This tension carries in it a sense of the boundaries of the nation It is a question of who is part of the nation and who is not The constraints of a certain nation be they political or social include the dominant by excluding the repressed or the marginalized In other words by exposing the tension between disenfranchised and dominant groups writers define redefine and reform for us the national political and social scenes of a particular nation Study Mission to Africa, November-December 1960 Frank Church, 1961

MANAGEMENT FOR EMERGING NATIONS Edward Khiwa PhD, 2013-02-04 SUMMARY Every nation should determine the future and the goals of public health in protecting its population As Western nations such as tobacco companies of the United States Britain and others are improving their gross national products they are instead exporting a major public health burden to the Emerging nations mostly various kinds of cancer especially lung cancer which has had a high toll of mortality to the populations of different nations of the world The World Health Organization after decades and billions of dollars later lost the fight against Malaria The world has surrendered to the disease Nothing left in the world except old wives tales type of pseudo preventative measures that does nothing except put the population in a form of false security The fight not only lost but the enemy has actually become stronger and we have nothing to further combat it it is a raging fire that consumes without mercy For many years the drug of choice was Chloroquine or quinine During the Korean war in the 1950 s many troops of an African or Mediterranean ethnic origin have exhibited severe allergic reaction to quinine There it was discontinued and only Chloroquine was used After many decades of Chloroquine use and misuse of Chloroquine resistant strain of Malaria made its appearance on the scientific scene in Southeast Asia and later the African continent To date there is no medication available for the resistant Malaria The best we have is a prophylactic dose of Chloroquine prior to traveling to an endemic area This is still an effective measure only in the Americas where the Malaria is still sensitive to chloroquine The resistant stain has a very wide range It has been observed as far east as Afghanistan and Kazakhstan and as west as West Africa The death rate is very high because of several common denominators Most of these countries are over populated poor health care programs no preventative programs mostly illiterate population and most importantly very poor economic status These countries mostly rely on outside help from the industrialized nations or the United Nation health care arm WHO Consistent factors of all outside aid program they are very costly usually without previous careful long rang impact studies in most cases are very short lived The result in most cases is disastrous the needy country usually is left with a white elephant health care program that is a failure and cannot afford to maintain on their own either from a technical standpoint or form a financial shortage For a long time we believed that more is bigger and better and the rest is history Malnutrition further complicates the picture complicates the picture In economically poor counties their people are not able to take the proper nutrients to sustain good status of health The malnourishment affects the immune system which as a result renders the population of the endemic areas with higher propensity to contract Malaria and other diseases as well These conditions combined results in the outcome of increased incidence of the disease and shorter life expectancy of the patients Furthermore the disease s vector Mosquito has become more resistant to eradication efforts and as a result its range has become increasingly greater every year For many years the spray methods of wetlands stagnant pools and slow flowing steams have proven useless Yet these methods continue Why The answer is very simple it is cheap available easily applied and most importantly politically convenient But the reality is that these methods are a dismal failure one only has to look at the numbers increased incidence of Malaria and the increased range of the vector Poor sanitary practice due to lack of education and the financial means to build water treatment facilities or even the ability to supply fresh clean water have contributed to the spread of the most preventable of diseases Cholera disease caused b

Toward a New Strategy for Development Albert O. Hirschman,Dudley Seers,Paul Streeten,2014-05-19 Toward a New Strategy for Development A Rothko Chapel Colloquium is a collection of papers commissioned by the Rothko Chapel and presented at a colloquium held in Houston Texas on February 3 5 1977 The colloquium provided a forum for discussing the need for a new strategy for development with emphasis on needs and programs from the perspectives of the developed countries at the center of the world s economic system and of the developing countries at its periphery and from the standpoint of different disciplines Comprised of 10 chapters this book begins with an introduction to Marxism and its congruence with other neoclassical doctrines such as the Chicago School followed by a discussion on development economics as well as the conditions that gave rise to the rapidly growing interest in development The next chapter traces the origins and history of one major body of Latin American ideas on development since the early 1950s the United Nation s Economic Commission for Latin America Subsequent chapters explore internal issues of development within countries with emphasis on urban and rural bias as well as factors that influence regional development policy the postwar economic experience of the Third World and the reactions of developed countries to calls for a new international economic order This monograph will be of interest to economists and sociologists
