New Orleans Pecan Parline Recipe:

New Orleans Pralines Anthony J. Stanonis, 2024-10-08 The Creole praline arrived in New Orleans with the migration of formerly enslaved people fleeing Louisiana plantations after the Civil War Black women street vendors made a livelihood by selling a range of homemade foods including pralines to Black dockworkers and passersby The praline offered a path to financial independence and even its ingredients spoke of a history of Black ingenuity an enslaved horticulturist played a key role in domesticating the pecan and creating the grafted tree that would form the basis of Louisiana's pecan orchards By the 1880s however white New Orleans writers such as Grace King and Henry Castellanos had begun to recast the history of the praline in a nostalgic mode that harkened back to the prewar South In their telling the praline was brought to New Orleans by an aristocratic refugee of the French Revolution Black street vendors were depicted not as innovative entrepreneurs but as loyal servants still faithful to their former enslavers The rise of cultivated shelled and cheaply bought pecans as opposed to the foraged pecans that early praline sellers had depended on allowed better resourced white women to move into the praline selling market especially as tourism emerged as a key New Orleans industry after the 1910s Indeed the praline became central to the marketing of New Orleans Conventions often hired Black women to play the praline mammy role for out of towners while stores sold pralines with mammy imagery in boxes designed to look like cotton bales After World War II pralines went national with items like praline flavored ice cream 1950s and praline liqueur 1980s Yet as the civil rights struggle persisted the imagery of the praline mammy was recognized as an offensive caricature As it uncovers the history of a sweet dessert made of sugar and pecans New Orleans Pralines tells a fascinating story of Black entrepreneurship toxic white nostalgia and the rise of tourism in the Crescent City

New Orleans Memories Carolyn Kolb, 2013-09-18 Carolyn Kolb provides a delightful and detailed look into the heart of her city New Orleans She is a former Times Picayune reporter and current columnist for New Orleans Magazine where versions of these essays appeared as Chronicles of Recent History Kolb takes her readers both those who live in New Orleans and those who love it as visitors on a virtual tour of her favorite people and places Divided into sections on food Mardi Gras literature and music these short essays can be read in one gulp or devoured slowly over time Either way the reader will find a welcome companion and guide in Kolb In bringing her stories up to date Kolb's writings reflect an ongoing pattern of life in her fascinating city Since the devastation of Hurricane Katrina in 2005 some of these things remembered will never return Some of the people whose stories Kolb tells are no longer with us It is important to her and to us that they are not forgotten Kolb and her readers can honor them by sharing and enjoying their stories As Kolb says When things fail when the lights go out and the roof caves in and the water rises all that remains ultimately is the story This collection of such stories was made with love

Owens, 2025-02-13 This cookbook is inspired by Gregory Montes Greg as I affectionately called him was a member and supporter of the LGBTQ community Greg like many desired love but could not seem to find a good match When his relationships would dissolve he would question his qualities He would wonder if his hair looked nice enough if he was too tall or too short if he should be more tanned if he weighed too much or too little if he should change his cologne if he was pretty enough if he was smart enough and if he even wondered if his skin was too dark or too light Greg knew that he was a quality person and someone would be lucky to be in a relationship with him but he second guessed a lot of his traits We talked almost daily and would usually FaceTime around happy hour and have cocktails together while I prepared dinner Hence the name Cooking and Cocktails Greg often asked me during our chats Why can't I find a nice guy to date Early in our friendship I honestly did not know the answer to that question As our friendship grew I learned that Greg looked for love in the wrong places Greg was a fan of the Real Housewives franchise and we loved getting catty with each other so when he would ask Why can't I find a nice guy to date I would say Because you can't cook Although it was a joke there was some truth to it and Greg thought it would be a good idea that he learn to cook I'll never forget the first dish he attempted to make He was so proud of himself I went to Arlington Virginia to visit him and he couldn't wait to share what he made Greg was a fan of healthy eating so it was no surprise to me when he told me that he made sweet potato fries We were sitting at the bar inside Epic Smokehouse in Arlington Virginia and I asked him how he made his sweet potato fries He said I cut them laid them on a baking sheet and sprinkled sea salt black pepper and paprika on them and baked them I then asked When did you add the sugar Greg's reply was Oh I didn't add sugar and that's when I laughed at him like Nene Leakes laughed at Porsha Williams when she said It's an everyday situation 265 days a year After my laughing spell I told Greg See this is why you don't have a man You need to put some sugar on those sweet potatoes otherwise they are not sweet Then I told him that I was going to write a cookbook for him He requested that I put my Mac Cheese recipe in the book I typed the recipes in this book and printed them in book format Sadly Gregory passed away in December 2022 To Greg this collection of recipes was a symbol of our friendship because he was the only person that I had ever shared them with For me it was a small token of appreciation God has blessed me with a rare gift true friendship I dedicate this cookbook to the memory of my friend Gregory Montes Raised on Old-Time Country Cooking Bettye B. Burkhalter, 2012-10-26 Sixteen generations later the same old winding roads and blazed trails throughout the three novels lead us all back home to nostalgic dishes and the worlds from which they came Upon arrival at the old home place we quickly find our favorite room Mamas kitchen The familiar sounds of pots and pans and aromas of old time country cooking float in and out of our senses Suddenly visions of chocolate pies swirled high with meringues cooling on the kitchen window sill are as clear as yesterday The sizzling sounds of Mama frying chicken on the old wood stove remind us that her kitchen offered southern hospitality at its best The trip
