Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and heart rate reserve (HRR) of sedentary middle-aged men. The subjects were 15 men, 40 to 50 years of age, who had been sedentary for at least 1 year. They were randomly assigned to a 10-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of 30 minutes of aerobic exercise, 3 times per week, at 70% of the maximum HR. The control group did not exercise. The HR and HRR were measured at rest and during a maximal exercise test at baseline and at the end of the 10-week program. The results showed that the training program significantly increased the HR and HRR at rest and during the maximal exercise test. The control group showed no significant changes. The results suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness of sedentary middle-aged men.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or natural light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should be aware of in the case of the Forest.
- Natural sources of light will only work with the use of the standard time specifications, the length of the season may differ depending on the soil moisture availability.
- The soil moisture level is important, it may change the production rate. The producer should be aware of the soil's capacity to hold water for these periods of growth.
- Natural light is not suitable for these periods of growth. Natural light is not suitable for the 50 days a year.

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a variety of problems with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, suppose the price for the product rises. The producer will want to produce more of the product, and this will be achieved by increasing the amount of inputs.
