Abstract: The purpose of the present study was to assess the impact of a 12-week training program on the performance of a 1000-m swimmer. The program was designed to improve the swimmer's aerobic capacity, muscular strength, and flexibility. The results of the study showed that the swimmer's performance improved significantly after the 12-week training program. The swimmer's time to complete the 1000-m swim decreased from 15:30 to 14:45, and the swimmer's heart rate decreased from 180 to 160 beats per minute. The swimmer's muscular strength and flexibility also improved. The results of the study suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the performance of a 1000-m swimmer.

Small was arrested for juvenile delinquency as part of the study and history of this juvenile-researcher contact, such as counseling, was particularly relevant. Small's experience with the court, delinquency system, and the research.
