Electricity and Magnetism in Biology and Medicine Ferdinando Bersani, 2012-12-06 In the last few decades the research on bioelectromagnetics has expanded worldwide About one thousand researchers are now working in the field in a variety of institutions throughout the world including medical biological engineering and technical laboratories and protection agencies After many years of research a clear picture is now emerging Initially the research was mainly interested in the therapeutic applications of ELF electric and magnetic fields and the RF range was mainly taken into consideration with respect to thermal effects only Then the growing body of biological effects of ELF fields on cells and biological tissues particularly for the repair processes in bone have drawn the attention of researchers to non thermal effects ranging from static fields to microwaves A specific field of interest that has been the object of a large debate in the last twenty years has been the potential health risk associated with electric power production and distribution and more recently with domestic and industrial appliances In the last few years the explosion of the market for cellular phones has highlighted the issue of possible health dangers related to their use and to the widespread presence of base stations The first World Congress on Electricity and Magnetism in Biology and Medicine was held in Orlando Florida in 1992 and collected the widest amount of contributions from almost all the major researchers involved in the field

A Guide to Performance and Efficiency Assessment of Industrial Equipment A. K. DAS, P. K. DAS, 2024-05-06 This book is written as a guide to industrial professionals young engineers entrepreneurs and industrialists and other stakeholders who need a huge energy in process industries in different forms through industrial process equipment for several human needs But the performance and efficiency of the equipment are not really taken care of during the operations and processes which may be due to the dearth of proper knowledge or ignorance Because of that a large quantity of energy remains unutilized or wastage causing excess energy costs and subsequently generation of a huge quantity of carbon footprint indirectly which could be saved by proper performance and efficient management and hence our Nature earth could be sustainable In this book the authors highlighted the performance and loss of efficiency of such industrial equipment during running This attempt has been made to disseminate their sound in depth knowledge and long experience achieved from several industries while working in different fields The book explains the actual energy needed for performance the reason for energy loss and the scope of energy savings which can be possible by proper energy management This book will also be apprehensible for all students of diploma undergraduate post graduate in the stream of electrical mechanical chemical power and all other engineering courses as a textbook as well as a reference book

Performance Assessment Brian McLean Semple, 1992 The second International Assessment of Educational Progress focused on the mathematics and science achievement of 13 year olds Performance assessments were used as part of the overall assessment in four countries England Scotland Soviet Union and Taiwan and five Canadian provinces The performance assessment approach drew heavily on the experience of the United Kingdom in such assessments but added features to meet the needs of an international study The performance tasks required students to apply concepts observe measure manipulate equipment and materials and record and interpret data Approximately 3 000 students participated in the 1991 mathematics and science assessments Scores varied widely from task to task and from country to country Relative performance of countries and provinces generally differed from those identified by written curriculum based tests A major lesson learned from the experimental test administration is that this form of performance assessment can be used reliably in international comparative studies although at an estimated cost three to four times greater than that for an equivalent number of written test questions Sample mathematics and science tasks are included and there is an appendix on problem solving in mathematics that describes outcomes produced by Scottish students SLD

High Field Magnetism F. Herlach, J.J.M. Franse, 2016-06-03 High Field Magnetism covers the proceedings of the 2nd International Symposium on High Field Magnetism held in Leuven Belgium on July 20 23 1988 The book focuses on magnetism superconductivity superconductors and magnetic properties The selection first offers information on DC laboratory electromagnets and design of magnet coils for semi continuous magnetic fields Discussions focus on resistive and hybrid magnets power stress and homogeneity of the field The book then examines production of ultra high magnetic fields and their application to solid state physics laboratory facility for the magnetic flux compression systems using large explosives and production of repeating pulsed high magnetic field The book takes a look at an electronic monitoring system for hybrid magnets non destructive quasi static pulsed magnetic fields at Toulouse and high field laboratory for superconducting materials at the Institute for Materials Research at Tohoku University The manuscript then ponders on high magnetic field facility at Osaka University advances in high field magnetism at Osaka and status and prospects of superconducting Chevrel phase wires for high magnetic field applications The selection is a dependable reference for readers interested in high field magnetism

Peterman,2005-05-06 Designing Performance Assessment Systems for Urban Teacher Preparation presents an argument for and invites critical examination of teacher preparation and assessment practices in light of both the complexity and demands of urban settings and the theories of learning and learning to teach that guide teacher education practices This dynamic approach distinguishes the authors stance on urban teacher assessment as one that can help address social justice issues related to gender race socioeconomic class and other differences and at the same time promote the professional development of all educators engaged in the process of learning to teach The contextually bound sociocultural stance that informs this book promises greater teacher and student achievement Culminating six years of vital dialogue and focused local activity among teachers and teacher educators from institutions in the Urban Network to Improve Teacher Education Designing Performance Assessment Systems for Urban Teacher Preparation presents the historical context that was examined for this work a theoretical framework to undergrad teacher preparation assessment and design principles to guide the development of assessment systems four case studies of participants struggles and successes in designing and implementing these systems and a discussion of the importance of context and current trends in assessment practices in urban teaching This volume is particularly relevant for university and school based teacher educators who help prepare teachers to work in urban schools and for personnel in state departments of education and other agencies who are responsible for certification and beginning teacher support While the focus is on preparing teachers for urban settings the theoretical and practical foundations and the case studies have broad implications and provide useful insights for anyone involved in developing and using performance assessment systems teacher educators university and school administrators classroom teachers and educational researchers

VET Boost: Towards a Theory of Professional Competencies, 2009-01-01 The themes of the different papers in this book are related to five major areas of research First the book presents the work on a large scale assessment in vocational and occupational education and training Reason was the work of Frank Achtenhagen and his colleagues on the preparation of a VET PISA which started in 2004 which has now become more and more a concrete program The contributions to this part of the book contain a project description and profound presentations and discussions of measurement and evaluation problems It reflects also the work of Achtenhagen with respect to item response theory measurement and testing The second part of this book presents a unique endeavour of promoting VET research The Swiss Federal Office for Professional Education and Technology OPET initiated a program of Leading Houses of VET which are dedicated to different important research topics This program might serve as example for comparable approaches in other countries The third part highlights central issues of research on learning processes curriculum theory and the use of technology Here the work of Achtenhagen on competence profile modelling competence measurement and instructional and curriculum designing is touched The fourth part stresses social and emotional learning as important aspects of VET learning The fifth part considers the political and institutional dimensions of VET research which have to be taken into account when an international large scale assessment of VET shall be getting started Achtenhagen s work on learning at work leaning in economics and learning under the conditions of institutional modelling are discussed The whole book is a collection of central issues around a field that is not yet taken enough into consideration in educational research but pushed and supported by

Frank Achtenhagen VET research He belongs to the founding fathers of it and this is why precisely the book reflects new trends and new concepts with respect to the question What can we educational psychologists and educational researchers learn from a rich and central research field

Formative Assessment Strategies for Enhanced Learning in Science, K-8 Elizabeth Hammerman, 2009 Hammerman focuses on the meaning and centrality of formative assessment providing insights examples and ties to numerous individual initiatives to improve science experiences for students and to inspire better teaching for teachers Robert E Yager Professor of Science Education University of Iowa This book addresses the various assessments used in our schools and how they can be approached to improve learning Elizabeth Alvarez Math and Science Coach Chicago Public Schools IL Use formative assessment to guide successful teaching and learning in science Proven to be one of the most powerful tools for promoting effective learning formative assessment enables teachers to capture evidence of student thinking and learning and use that information to adjust instruction In this concise resource science educator Elizabeth Hammerman clearly outlines the formative assessment process and provides practical strategies for embedding assessments into the K 8 standards based science curriculum This research based book demonstrates how student centered assessment helps students assume more responsibility for what they learn and how they learn Teachers can use the various models of formative assessments to monitor student progress and evaluate learning The author guides readers through discussions thought and reflection activities analyses of assessment techniques and applications to classroom practice Ideal for teachers and science and curriculum specialists this user friendly resource provides all the necessary tools to Assess student understanding using observation checklists questioning strategies notebooks reports graphic organizers projects and performance tasks Differentiate science instruction to reach all learners Use rubrics as a means of discovering student strengths and weaknesses Collect student data to inform instructional decisions With this easy to implement guide any teacher can effectively use formative assessment strategies to enhance instruction and increase student achievement in science
