Multiple sclerosis (MS) is a chronic autoimmune disease of the central nervous system (CNS) that affects the brain and spinal cord. It is characterized by the presence of lesions in the CNS, which are caused by the immune system attacking the myelin sheath that surrounds the nerve fibers. The disease is more common in women than in men and typically begins between the ages of 20 and 40. The symptoms of MS can vary widely, but they often include fatigue, muscle weakness, numbness or tingling in the limbs, and problems with vision and balance. There is no cure for MS, but there are treatments available that can help to manage the symptoms and slow the progression of the disease.
