world examples of equity investors and markets From Underground to Independent Paul G. Pickowicz, Yingjin Zhang, 2006-08-11 This groundbreaking book presents a critical introduction to the cultural and political dimensions of contemporary Chinese cinema. Leading Western and Chinese scholars trace the changing dynamics of Chinese film culture since the early 1990s as it moves away from underground and toward independence in the new century. Yet as the rich case studies illustrate the sheer variety of alternative film culture itself provides sufficient opportunities for different at times contradictory configurations of cinematic products. Drawing on vigorous interdisciplinary scholarship the book investigates the objects of its study from various methodological perspectives ranging from historical and literary to sociological and ethnographic. In addition to offering critical readings of specific texts this book explores alternative film culture through personal interviews on site observations and media interrogations from traditional print media to the visual media of film television and video including the new digital media of the Internet. The contributors also consider the flourishing independent documentary filmmaking scene highlighting a crucial part of alternative film that has been previously obscured by an almost exclusive attention on the fifth and sixth generation directors of fictional movies. With its fresh and knowledgeable analysis of Chinese underground and independent filmmaking this book will be essential reading for all those interested in a society caught between socialism and global currents. Chinese Film in the Twenty-First Century Corey Schultz, Cecília Mello, 2023-10-13 This book examines Chinese film in the twenty first century Organized around the themes movements genres and intermedia it reflects on how Chinese cinema has changed adapted and evolved over past decades and prognosticates as to its future trajectories It considers how established film genres in China have adapted and transformed themselves and discusses current shifts in documentary filmmaking the ethos and practices of grassroots intellectual independent filmmakers and the adaption of foreign film genres to serve the ideological and political needs of the present. It also explores how film is drawing on the socio historical and political contexts of the past to create new cinematic discourses and the ways film is providing a voice to previously marginalised ethnic groups. In addition, the book analyses the influences of past aesthetic traditions on the creative and artistic expressions of twenty first century films and cinema's relation to other media forms including folktales, moving image, installations, architecture and painting. Throughout the book, it assesses how Chinese films have been conceptualized, examined and communicated domestically and abroad, and emphasizes the importance of new directions in Chinese film, thus highlighting the plurality, vitality and hybridity of Chinese cinema in the twenty first century. John Carpenter: The I.B. Tauris Handbook of Iranian Cinema Michelle Langford, Maryam Ghorbankarimi, Zahra Khosroshahi, 2024-10-31. This volume brings together scholarship from both established scholars and early career academics to provide fresh insights and new research on the cinema of Iran. The book is organised around eight broad themes including cinema before and after the revolution, stylistic innovation, documentary, gender and genre. Encompassing a diverse range of methodological approaches and disciplinary frameworks including film studies, cultural studies and political economy, each chapter is a self contained study on a specific topic, engaging with the national and transnational history of Iranian cinema, which combined, provide readers with original new insights into Iranian film and filmmakers from fiction films to art house and popular cinema. The Handbook includes analysis of the works of established filmmakers such as Bahram Beyzaie, Rakhshan Banetmad, Abbas Kiarostami and Mohsen Makhmalbaf, as well as the output of emerging voices such as Ida Panahandeh and Shahram Mokri. Covering well known topics as well as cutting edge ones such as the sonic and visual manifestations of the urban environment in Iranian films, this book is a vital resource for understanding Iran and its unique cinematic culture.

History from South Africa Joshua Brown, 1991. More starkly than any other contemporary social conflict, the crisis in South Africa highlights the complexities and conflicts in race, gender, class and nation. These original articles, most of which were written by South African authors, are from a special issue of the Radical History Review published in Spring 1990 that mapped the development of interpretations of the South African past that depart radically from the official history. The articles range from the politics of black movements in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries to studies of film, television and theater as reflections of modern social conflict.
