Financial Systems in Troubled Waters Alessandro Carretta, Gianluca Mattarocci, 2013-05-07 This collection considers the financial crisis from a managerial perspective focussing on the business implications for the financial industry Topics examined include governance information needs and strategy of financial intermediaries and investors The contributions build on the existing literature and present some unique insights on governance credit quality evaluation and performance measurement In a fast growing or steady market it is possible for even an inefficient financial system to satisfy investors and firms needs However the current financial crisis has brought into sharp relief the limits of the inefficient practices adopted by the market and made clear the importance of developing more effective governance mechanisms more detailed and complete information databases and new strategies The crisis has also brought to the fore issues about the governance of financial intermediaries that had not been previously addressed These include board diversity internal monitoring procedures and the existence of interlocking directorates More broadly the financial crisis has radically altered the international framework with an increasingly consolidated financial sector and the rise of new markets such as China that now play a predominant role in the worldwide market Studies on the competition and on the performance in this new scenario are essential in order to understand the implications of recent events

Financial Education and Risk Literacy Riccardo Viale, Umberto Filotto, Barbara Alemanni, Shabnam Mousavi, 2021-01-29 This innovative book explores how the design of financial education programmes could benefit from the findings of behavioural economics and finance and cognitive sciences It covers the social cultural and technological determinants of financial education the role of the banking system in promoting financial literacy and how governments and regulatory authorities are dealing with financial education and risk literacy programmes in schools

Financial Literacy and the Limits of Financial Decision-Making Tina Harrison, 2016-09-20 This book presents selected papers on the factors that serve to influence an individual's capacity in financial decision making Initial chapters provide an overview of the cognitive factors affecting financial decisions and suggest a link between limited cognitive capacity and the need for financial education The book then expands on these cognitive limitations to explore the tendency for overconfidence in decision making and the interplay between rational and irrational factors Later contributions show how credit card companies benefit from limitations in consumer financial literacy how gender and cognition intersect to play an important role in financial decision making and how to improve financial capacity through financial literacy and education campaigns including those addressing developed marketplaces This comprehensive collection of papers will be of value to all readers who seek to better understand the multi factorial and complex nature of personal financial management in today's economic climate

Improving Literacy Through Home, School, and Community Partnerships Gatcho, Al Rynne Gabonada, Titar-Improgo, Cecille Marie, Gutierrez, Merry Ruth Morauda, 2024-04-09 The underappreciation of the pivotal roles played by home school and community in shaping the literacy journey of individuals While the mantra Literacy begins at home resonates it often remains a mere platitude rather than a transformative force The synergy between these three pillars is essential yet gaps persist hindering the development of a truly literate society As children tread the academic path the home lays the foundation and schools amplify these efforts However the holistic nature of learning encompassing life experiences demands a collaborative approach from families educators and communities This is the crux of the problem a disjointed system that impedes the seamless development of literacy across diverse backgrounds Improving Literacy Through Home School and Community Partnerships is a groundbreaking book that unravels the complexities of this challenge and illuminates the transformative potential within collaborative efforts By delving into the dynamic interplay between home school and community the book offers a roadmap to bridge existing gaps and forge a path toward a more literate society Early career researchers will find this a valuable resource to identify and address these gaps while families educators community leaders and policymakers will gain invaluable perspectives to inform their practices policies and research initiatives
