Her life is already fractured.

She doesn't need any more complications.

Churella, 2012-10-29 Do not think of the Pennsylvania Railroad as a business enterprise Forbes magazine informed its readers in May 1936 Think of it as a nation At the end of the nineteenth century the Pennsylvania Railroad was the largest privately owned business corporation in the world In 1914 the PRR employed more than two hundred thousand people more than double the number of soldiers in the United States Army As the self proclaimed Standard Railroad of the World this colossal corporate body underwrote American industrial expansion and shaped the economic political and social environment of the United States In turn the PRR was fundamentally shaped by the American landscape adapting to geography as well as shifts in competitive economics and public policy Albert J Churella s masterful account certain to
