

The Scarlet Ibis

Scarlet ibis are native to the wetlands of the Americas. They have a long, straight bill and a long, thin neck. They are found in the wetlands of the Americas, particularly in the Caribbean and South America. They are known for their bright red plumage, which is a result of their diet of red-colored insects and other small animals. They are also known for their long, thin necks, which they use to reach into the water to catch their food.
