McCanna-Porter,2024-04-02 Contemporary art must get inspiration from somewhere In Tea Automatons and Time Machines the subculture of Steampunk art is studied in relation to art history Addressing three main topics within social and environmental justice a comparison of art styles and creativity stems from an artist s passion within popular culture Using arts based research methods and personal introspection viewed through the lens of nostalgia a unique perspective of art history studies comes to life Nostalgia being primarily a psychological study is used as a lens to view art culture and memoir into a complete research project We live in a world in need of change Historically artists have provided a means for change through their work and the lives they choose to live The vastness of art history provides plenty of room for inspiration and interpretation In this study the contemporary sub culture of Steampunk looks nostalgically at Arts and Crafts Art Nouveau and Art Deco eras in a way that paves the way for social change and environmental preservation using fantasy cos play and art to demonstrate needed changes Through the art and culture of Steampunk we explore areas that could use improvement in our modern world and yet they do tie in with similar occurrences of the past We find that we re not that different but with art and demonstration we too can make positive changes for our future to the highest bidder despite its rich history When a group of community members with little in common is chosen to decide the fate of the old Altman place they soon learn that this home is more than bricks and mortar No one is prepared for what they discover beneath Rosa Lee s overgrown roses or how her legacy will change not only their town but their very lives

Designing Interactive Worlds With Words David S. Kaufer, Brian S. Butler, 2000-04-01 No two writing situations are exactly the same and skilled writers like skilled painters must develop the know how to represent the objects of their writing as part of a flexible art This special art of writing lies hidden between grammar the well formedness of sentences and genre the capacity of texts to perform culturally holistic communicative functions e g the memo the strategic report the letter to the editor Concealed between grammar and genre this less visible art of writing is what Kaufer and Butler call representational composition Texts within this hidden art are best viewed not primarily as grammatical units or as genre functions but as bearers of design elements stimulating imagistic narrative and information rich worlds and as an invitation to readers to explore and interact with them This volume presents a systematic study of the principles that underlie writing as representational composition Drawing from student models derived from a studio method the authors use each chapter to present a different aspect of what unfolds across the course of the book into a cumulative interactive and unified body of representational principles underlying the design of texts They reveal what makes the textual representations achieved by expert writers worthwhile and at the same time difficult for novice writers to reproduce Extending the framework of their 1996 volume Rhetoric and the Arts of Design into a realm of textual design this volume will interest students and instructors of writing rhetoric and information design
