Labors of Love Jason Rodriquez,2014-10-24 Every day for the next twenty years more than 10 000 people in the United States will turn 65 With life expectancies increasing as well many of these Americans will eventually require round the clock attention and we have only begun to prepare for the challenge of caring for them In Labors of Love Jason Rodriquez examines the world of the fast growing elder care industry providing a nuanced and balanced portrait of the day to day lives of the people and organizations that devote their time to supporting America s aging population Through extensive ethnographic research interviews with staff and management and analysis of internal documents Rodriquez explores the inner workings of two different nursing homes one for profit and one non profit to understand the connections among the administrative regulations the professional requirements and the type of care provided in both types of facilities He reveals a variety of challenges that nursing home care workers face day to day battles over the budget the administrative hurdles of Medicaid and Medicare the employees struggle to balance financial stability and compassionate care for residents Yet Rodriquez argues nursing home workers give meaning and dignity to their work by building emotional attachments to residents and their care An unprecedented study Labors of Love brings new insight into the underlying structures of a crucial and expanding sector of the American health care system Nursing Homes Explained Delia Marie Franklin,2013 This book will help readers understand more about gerontological nursing how the different nursing specialties interact and the necessity for multidisciplinary team approaches to improve systems in the industry The book also highlights some of the many individuals who have contributed to reaching for higher care levels in nursing homes Innovative processes such as the Eden Alternative and the Quality Indicator Survey process are introduced which will assist people to understand the wide range of ways in which the system can be improved As the author emphasizes throughout the book the psychology of kindness is essential and needs to be demonstrated by everyone in the gerontological field from care providers to families and patients Emotions can run high as patients and families may be frightened confused and concerned about making good decisions while the care providers are themselves working hard to provide appropriate care while coping with multiple demands Consideration and humor are in fact most important for creating a positive atmosphere for those in nursing homes

Music, Brain, and Rehabilitation: Emerging Therapeutic Applications and Potential Neural Mechanisms Teppo Särkämö, Eckart Altenmüller, Antoni Rodríguez-Fornells, Isabelle Peretz, 2016-08-05 Music is an important source of enjoyment learning and well being in life as well as a rich powerful and versatile stimulus for the brain With the advance of modern neuroimaging techniques during the past decades we are now beginning to understand better what goes on in the healthy brain when we hear play think and feel music and how the structure and function of the brain can change as a result of musical training and expertise For more than a century music has also been studied in the field of neurology where the focus has mostly been on musical deficits and symptoms caused by neurological illness e g amusia musicogenic epilepsy or on occupational diseases of professional musicians e g focal dystonia hearing loss Recently however there has been increasing interest and progress also in adopting music as a therapeutic tool in neurological rehabilitation and many novel music based rehabilitation methods have been developed to facilitate motor cognitive emotional and social functioning of infants children and adults suffering from a debilitating neurological illness or disorder Traditionally the fields of music neuroscience and music therapy have progressed rather independently but they are now beginning to integrate and merge in clinical neurology providing novel and important information about how music is processed in the damaged or abnormal brain how structural and functional recovery of the brain can be enhanced by music based rehabilitation methods and what neural mechanisms underlie the therapeutic effects of music Ideally this information can be used to better understand how and why music works in rehabilitation and to develop more effective music based applications that can be targeted and tailored towards individual rehabilitation needs The aim of this Research Topic is to bring together research across multiple disciplines with a special focus on music brain and neurological rehabilitation We encourage researchers working in the field to submit a paper presenting either original empirical research novel theoretical or conceptual perspectives a review or methodological advances related to following two core topics 1 how are musical skills and attributes e g perceiving music experiencing music emotionally playing or singing affected by a developmental or acquired neurological illness or disorder for example stroke aphasia brain injury Alzheimer s disease Parkinson s disease autism ADHD dyslexia focal dystonia or tinnitus and 2 what is the applicability effectiveness and mechanisms of music based rehabilitation methods for persons with a neurological illness or disorder Research methodology can include behavioural physiological and or neuroimaging techniques and studies can be either clinical group studies or case studies studies of healthy subjects are applicable only if their findings have clear clinical implications Nursing Homes ,2004 Problem-oriented Medical Record Implementation Rosemarian Berni,Helen Readey,1978 Geriatric Physical Therapy Andrew A.
