

CHAPTER 6 REVIEW*Chemical BondingMIXED REVIEW

SHORT ANSWER Answer the following questions in the space provided.

1. Name the type of energy that is a measure of strength for each of the following types of bonds:

_____ lattice energy _____

a. ionic bond

_____ bond energy _____

b. covalent bond

_____ enthalpy of vaporization _____

c. metallic bond

2. Use the electronegativity values shown in Figure 20, on page 161 of the text, to determine whether each of the following bonds is nonpolar covalent, polar covalent, or ionic.

_____ ionic _____

a. H—F

_____ nonpolar covalent _____

d. H—H

_____ ionic _____

b. Na—Cl

_____ polar covalent _____

e. H—C

_____ polar covalent _____

c. H—O

_____ polar covalent _____

f. H—N

3. How is a hydrogen bond different from an ionic or covalent bond?

A hydrogen bond is a dipole-dipole attraction between a partially positive hydrogen atom and the unshared electron pair of a strongly electronegative atom such as O, N, or F. Unlike ionic or covalent bonds, in which electrons are given up or shared, the hydrogen bond is a weaker attraction. Hydrogen bonds are generally intermolecular, while ionic and covalent bonds occur between ions or atoms respectively.

4. H₂S and H₂O have similar structures and their central atoms belong to the same group. Yet H₂S is a gas at room temperature and H₂O is a liquid. Use bonding principles to explain why this is.

Oxygen has higher electronegativity than sulfur, which creates a highly polar bond. Increased polarity in H₂O bonds means a stronger intermolecular attraction, making water a liquid at room temperature. Hydrogen bonding exists between water molecules, but not between hydrogen sulfide molecules.
