Representing the Race Gene Andrew Jarrett, 2011-08-08 The political value of African American literature has long been a topic of great debate among American writers both black and white from Thomas Jefferson to Barack Obama In his compelling new book Representing the Race Gene Andrew Jarrett traces the genealogy of this topic in order to develop an innovative political history of African American literature Jarrett examines texts of every sort pamphlets autobiographies cultural criticism poems short stories and novels to parse the myths of authenticity popular culture nationalism and militancy that have come to define African American political activism in recent decades He argues that unless we show the diverse and complex ways that African American literature has transformed society political myths will continue to limit our understanding of this intellectual tradition Cultural forums ranging from the printing press schools and conventions to parlors railroad cars and courtrooms provide the backdrop to this African American literary history while the foreground is replete with compelling stories from the debate over racial genius in early American history and the intellectual culture of racial politics after slavery to the tension between copyright law and free speech in contemporary African American culture to the political audacity of Barack Obama's creative writing Erudite yet accessible Representing the Race is a bold explanation of what's at stake in continuing to politicize African American literature in the new millennium

Passing Interest Julie Cary Nerad, 2014-07-01 Explores how the trope of racial passing continues to serve as a touchstone for gauging public beliefs and anxieties about race in this multiracial era The first volume to focus on the trope of racial passing in novels memoirs television and films published or produced between 1990 and 2010 Passing Interest takes the scholarly conversation on passing into the twenty first century With contributors working in the fields of African American studies American studies cultural studies film studies literature and media studies this book offers a rich interdisciplinary survey of critical approaches to a broad range of contemporary passing texts Contributors frame recent passing texts with a wide array of cultural discourses including immigration law the Post Soul Aesthetic contemporary political satire affirmative action the paradoxes of colorblindness and the rhetoric of post racialism Many explore whether one drop of blood still governs our sense of racial identity or to what extent contemporary American culture allows for the racially indeterminate individual Some essays open the scholarly conversation to focus on ethnic passers individuals who complicate the traditional black white binary while others explore the slippage between traditional racial passing and related forms of racial performance including blackface minstrelsy and racial masquerade

New Approaches to Gone With the Wind James A. Crank, 2015-12-14 Since its publication in 1936 Gone with the Wind has held a unique position in American cultural memory both for its particular vision of the American South in the age of the Civil War and for its often controversial portrayals of race gender and class New Approaches to Gone with the Wind offers neither apology nor rehabilitation for the novel and its Oscar winning film adaptation Instead the nine essays provide distinct compelling insights that challenge and complicate conventional associations Racial and sexual identity form a cornerstone of the collection Mark C. Jerng and Charlene Regester each examine Margaret Mitchell's reframing of traditional racial identities and the impact on audience sympathy and engagement Jessica Sims mines Mitchell's depiction of childbirth for what it reveals about changing ideas of femininity in a postplantation economy while Deborah Barker explores transgressive sexuality in the film version by comparing it to the depiction of rape in D. W. Griffith's earlier silent classic Birth of a Nation Other essays position the novel and film within the context of their legacy and their impact on national and international audiences Amy Clukey and James Crank inspect the reception of Gone with the Wind by Irish critics and gay communities respectively Daniel Cross Turner Keaghan Turner and Rich Richardson consider its aesthetic impact and mythology and the ways that contemporary writers and artists such as Natasha Trethewey and Kara Walker have engaged with the work Finally Helen Taylor sums up the pervading influence that Gone with the Wind continues to exert on audiences in both America and Britain Through an emphasis on intertextuality sexuality and questions of audience and identity these essayists deepen the ongoing conversation about the cultural impact and influence of this monumental work Flawed in many ways yet successful beyond its time Gone with the Wind remains a touchstone in southern studies Atkinson's Evening Post and Philadelphia Saturday News, 1957-09 Bigger Than Blockbusters James Roman, 2009-02-17 Whether it's the hum drum existence of Marion Crane and her illicit love affair the psychotic antics of Norman Bates the sudden irrational migration of birds a crop duster swooping down on Roger Thornhill in the middle of nowhere or Vincent Vega and Mia Wallace's unforgettable dance at Jack Rabbit Slim's they are all cinematic moments that forever changed the psyche and viewing experience of American audiences Bigger Than Blockbusters Movies That Defined America tells the stories behind the most significant and influential films in American culture movies that have had a profound influence on the literary cinematic and popular culture of our time Arranged chronologically the volume gives readers an opportunity to place the films within the context of the social and cultural historic dynamic of the time making this an ideal source for student papers and reports Each entry includes the filmmaker actors release information a synopsis of the film critics reviews awards current availability and then background on the making of the film in an artistic economic and technological context Spanning all genres including horror and drama adventure comedy musicals science fiction and more this volume is loaded with enough trivia and factoids to satisfy even the most die hard movie buff Also included are other Greatest Films compilations from the National Society of Film Critics and noteworthy sources for comparative purposes Guaranteed to inspire forays into film favorites as well as some very lively debate this resource is essential reading for film lovers and students alike Law and Authors Jacqueline D. the South Today our vision of the South varies and there is less there than ever before In The South That Wasn't There Michael Kreyling explores a series of literary situations in which memory and history seem to work in odd and problematic ways Lively and frequently confrontational The South That Wasn't There offers a thought provoking reexamination of our literary conceptions about the South The One-in-a-Million Baby Name Book Jennifer Moss, Babynames.com, 2008-07-01 From one of the top parenting websites a comprehensive naming guide featuring the unique Babynames.com popularity ratings Forget those traditional lists of names and their meanings in guiding readers step by step through the naming process as well as the seven things to consider this book will help parents decide upon a name perfectly suited to their child and family The only baby name book to draw upon the opinions of 1.2 million parents each listing features a popularity rating derived from website feedback as well as the top personality traits associated with the name Readers can also browse lists of names organized in unique ways such as names for sports fans or fiction lovers and names to be avoided History's Lost Moments Volume V Tom Horton, 2014-10-09 A collection of newspaper columns that appeared in The Moultrie News a weekly newspaper serving Mount Pleasant and the east of the Cooper area of Charleston County A Study of Scarlett's Margaret Donovan Bauer, 2014-07-31 This comparative study examines Scarlett O'Hara as a literary archetype revealing critical prejudice against strong female characters There are two portrayals of Scarlett O'Hara the famous one of the film Gone with the Wind and Margaret Mitchell's more sympathetic character in the book In A Study of Scarlett's Margaret D. Bauer examines both noting that although Scarlett is just sixteen at the start of the novel she is criticized for behavior that would have been excused if she were a man Her stalwart determination in the face of extreme adversity made Scarlett an icon and an inspiration to female readers Yet today she is often condemned as a sociopathic shrew Bauer offers a more complex and sympathetic reading of Scarlett before examining Scarlett-like characters in other novels including Charles Frazier's Cold Mountain Ellen Glasgow's Barren Ground Toni Morrison's Sula and Kat Meads' The Invented Life of Kitty Duncan Through these selections Bauer touches on themes of female independence mother-daughter relationships the fraught nature of romance and the importance of female friendship
