The Dark Places of Business Enterprise Pietro Frigato, Francisco J. Santos-Arteaga, 2019-04-05 This book considers Thorstein Veblen's central preoccupation with the dark places of business enterprise an integral part of the old institutional economics Combining the contributions made by Karl William Kapp and Philip Mirowski it proposes the systematization of an adjourned institutional theory of social costs of business enterprise useful for the analysis of contemporary crises The Dark Places of Business Enterprise explores the research potential of the theory of social costs for the analysis of actual business behavior in the current globalized privatization regime It begins with a detailed outline of Veblen's critique of business enterprise and market competition before illustrating the methodical enrichment of this approach through Kapp's work Finally it concludes by proposing the integration of the Veblenian Kappian approach with Mirowski's theory of markets and business doubt manufacture. The resulting theory of social costs will shed light on the ubiquitous business control of society under the now dominant computer-based technological infrastructure. This interdisciplinary foundation of the theory of social costs encompassing knowledge from computer science and engineering to natural sciences provides the tools required to analyze this great transformation.

Coleridge and Contemplation Peter Cheyne, 2017. Coleridge and Contemplation is a multi-disciplinary volume on Samuel Taylor Coleridge, founding poet of British Romanticism, critic and author of philosophical, political, and theological works. In his philosophical writings, Coleridge increasingly developed his thinking about imagination, a symbolizing precursor to contemplation, to a theory of contemplation itself, which for him occurs in its purest form as a manifestation of Reason. Coleridge is a particularly challenging figure because he was a thinker in process and something of an omnivore, a Renaissance man of the Romantic era. The dynamic quality of his thinking, the dark fluxion pursued but ultimately unfixable by thought, and his extensive range of interests make essential an approach that is philosophical yet also multi-disciplinary. This is the first collection to be written mainly by philosophers and intellectual historians on Coleridge's mature philosophy. With a foreword by Baroness Mary Warnock and original essays by prominent philosophers such as Roger Scruton, David E. Cooper, Michael McGhee, and Andy Hamilton, this volume provides a stimulating collection of insights and explorations into what Britain's foremost philosopher-poet had to say about the contemplation that he considered to be the highest of the human mental powers. The chapters by philosophers are supported by new developments in philosophically minded criticism from Coleridge scholars in English departments, including Jim Mays, Kathleen Wheeler, and James Engell. They approach Coleridge as an energetic yet contemplative thinker concerned with the intuition of ideas and the processes of cultivation in self and society. Other chapters from intellectual historians and theologians clarify the historical background and religious musings of Coleridge's thought regarding contemplation.

International Humanitarian Action Hans-Joachim Heintze, Pierre Thielbörger, 2017-10-04. This textbook examines a wide range of humanitarian action issues in five parts presented by specialists from different academic fields. The respective parts reflect the five core modules of the International NOHA Joint Master's Programme: International Humanitarian Action, a) World Politics, b) International Law, c) Public Health, d) Anthropology, and e) Management. The book serves as a common basis for teaching at all NOHA universities and aims at imparting the basic knowledge and skills needed to excel in a complex interdisciplinary and international learning context. It provides in depth information on key international humanitarian principles and values, professional codes of conduct and the commitment to their implementation in practice. The book will thus be useful for all students of the NOHA Joint Master's Programme and participants of any courses with a similar content but also for academics and practitioners affiliated with entities such as international organisations and NGOs. It may also serve as an introduction to anyone with an interest in understanding the numerous and inter-linked facets of humanitarian action.

Handbook of Metaheuristic Algorithms Chun-Wei Tsai, Ming-Chao Chiang, 2023-05-30. Handbook of Metaheuristic Algorithms: From Fundamental Theories to Advanced Applications provides a brief introduction to metaheuristic algorithms from the ground up, including basic ideas and advanced solutions. Although readers may be able to find source code for some metaheuristic algorithms on the Internet, the coding styles and explanations are generally quite different and thus requiring expanded knowledge between theory and implementation. This book can also help students and researchers construct an integrated perspective of metaheuristic and unsupervised algorithms for artificial intelligence research in computer science and applied engineering domains. Metaheuristic algorithms can be considered the epitome of unsupervised learning algorithms for the optimization of engineering and artificial intelligence problems, including simulated annealing, SA, tabu search, TS, genetic algorithm, GA, ant colony optimization, ACO, particle swarm optimization, PSO, differential evolution, DE, and others. Distinct from most supervised learning algorithms that need labeled data to learn and construct determination models, metaheuristic algorithms inherit characteristics of unsupervised learning algorithms used for solving complex engineering optimization problems without labeled data, just like self-learning to find solutions to complex problems. Presents a unified framework for metaheuristics and describes well-known algorithms and their variants. Introduces fundamentals and advanced topics for solving engineering optimization problems, e.g., scheduling problems, sensors deployment problems, and clustering problems. Includes source code based on the unified framework for metaheuristics used as examples to show how TS, SA, GA, ACO, PSO, DE, parallel metaheuristic algorithm, hybrid metaheuristic, local search, and other advanced technologies are realized in programming languages such as C and Python.

Mechanisms and Pathways Contributing to the Diversity of Aging across the Tree of Life Joris Deelen, Alan A. Cohen, Owen Jones, 2022-03-11

Obligation and Commitment in Family Law Gillian Douglas, 2018-04-19. A tension lies at the heart of family law. Expressed in the language of rights and duties, it seeks to impose enforceable obligations on individuals linked to each other by ties that are usually regarded as based on love or blood. Taking a contextual approach that draws on history, sociology, and social policy as well as law and legal theory, this book examines the concept of obligation as it has been developed in family law and the difficulties the law has had in translating it from a theoretical and ideological concept into the basis of enforceable actions and duties. Increasingly, the idea of commitment has been offered as the key organising principle for the recognition of family relationships often as a means of rebutting claims that family ties are becoming attenuated but the meaning and scope of this concept have not been explored The book traces how the notion of commitment is understood and how far it has come to be used as a rationale for imposing the core legal obligations which underpin care and caring within families The Legal Order Åke Frändberg, 2018-08-16 In this monograph a fundamental distinction is made between law and juridical thinking Law is the content of legal rules and the systems of legal rules Juridical thinking is the handling of the law by the lawyers To this distinction corresponds a basic distinction between the language of law and the language of juridical thinking and correlatively between L concepts law concepts and J concepts juridical or jurisprudential concepts The monograph is devoted to the J concepts especially of technical not ideological or evaluative J concepts Four kinds of J concepts are investigated morphological J concepts those that help us to structure the law in a logical and functional way topological J concepts those that help us to indicate the phenomena to which the law is applicable and to separate the areas of application for different legal systems praxeological J concepts those that help us to explore the relations between law and action and methodological J concepts those that help us to describe the methods of the professional juridical handling of the law The work can be characterised as presenting a lawyer's philosophy of law Perspectives on Causation Elitzur A. Bar-Asher Siegal, Nora Boneh, 2020-07-27 This book explores relationships and maps out intersections between discussions on causation in three scientific disciplines linguistics philosophy and psychology The book is organized in five thematic parts investigating connections between philosophical and linguistic studies of causation presenting novel methodologies for studying the representation of causation tackling central issues in syntactic and semantic representation of causal relations and introducing recent advances in philosophical thinking on causation Beyond its thematic organization readers will find several recurring topics throughout this book such as the attempt to reduce causality to other non causal terms causal pluralism vs one all encompassing account for causation causal relations pertaining to the mental as opposed to the physical realm and more This collection also lays the foundation for questioning whether it is possible to evaluate available philosophical approaches to causation against the variety of linguistic phenomena ranging across diverse lexical and grammatical items such as bound morphemes prepositions connectives and verbs Above all it lays the groundwork for considering whether the fruits of the psychological cognitive study of the perception of causal relations may contribute to linguistic and philosophical studies and whether insights from linguistics can benefit the other two disciplines Travel among Early Christians: A Socio-theological Analysis of Pauline and Ignatian Communities Jason Borges, 2025-09-18 Travel among Early Christians approaches intercommunal movement between churches as a valuable source of insights regarding social and theological aspects of early Christianity Incorporating theories from mobility studies and ancient institutions that facilitated travel Borges traces how travel functioned as a formative practice among early Christians group identities and signified a new cosmic reality regarding their unity in Christ Borges investigates six specific travel events in Pauline and Ignatian churches noting how mobility became a distinctive and revealing aspect of early Christianity

Value Beyond Monotheism Kirk Loughheed, 2022-10-21 This book expands the current axiology of theism literature by assessing the axiological status of alternative conceptions of God and the divine To date most of the literature on the axiology of theism focuses almost exclusively on the axiological status of theism and atheism Specifically it focuses almost entirely on monotheism typically Judeo Christian conceptions of God and atheism usually construed as ontological naturalism This volume features essays from prominent philosophers of religion ethicists and metaphysicians addressing the value impact of alternative views such as ultimism polytheism pantheism panentheism and idealism Additionally it reflects a wider trend in analytic philosophy of religion to broaden its scope beyond the Judeo Christian tradition Value Beyond Monotheism will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in the philosophy of religion ethics and metaphysics

Discourse Contextualism Alex Silk, 2016 This book investigates context sensitivity in natural language by examining the meaning and use of a target class of theoretically recalcitrant expressions These expressions including epistemic vocabulary normative and evaluative vocabulary and vague language CR expressions exhibit systematic differences from paradigm context sensitive expressions in their discourse dynamics and embedding properties Many researchers have responded by rethinking the nature of linguistic meaning and communication Drawing on general insights about the role of context in interpretation and collaborative action Silk develops an improved contextualist theory of CR expressions within the classical truth conditional paradigm Discourse Contextualism The aim of Discourse Contextualism is to derive the distinctive linguistic behavior of a CR expression from a particular contextualist interpretation of an independently motivated formal semantics along with general principles of interpretation and conversation It is shown how in using CR expressions speakers can exploit their mutual grammatical and world knowledge and general pragmatic reasoning skills to coordinate their attitudes and negotiate about how the context should evolve The book focuses primarily on developing a Discourse Contextualist semantics and pragmatics for epistemic modals The Discourse Contextualist framework is also applied to other categories of epistemic vocabulary normative and evaluative vocabulary and vague adjectives The similarities differences among these expressions and among context sensitive expressions more generally have been underexplored The development of Discourse Contextualism in this book sheds light on general features of meaning and communication and the variety of ways in which context affects and is affected by uses of language Discourse Contextualism provides a fruitful framework for theorizing about various broader issues in philosophy linguistics and cognitive science

Moral Responsibility and the Flicker of Freedom Justin A. Capes, 2023 In Moral Responsibility and the Flicker of Freedom Justin A Capes challenges that thought experiments such as the sort devised by Harry Frankfurt are counter examples to the principle that a person is morally responsible for what he did only if he could avoid doing it He argues that far from being counterexamples to the principle Frankfurt cases as they have come to be known actually provide further confirmation of it a conclusion that has important implications for our understanding of free will and moral responsibility Taming Capitalism Before Its Triumph Koji Yamamoto,2018 Early modern England had a distinctive preoccupation with the social responsibilities of private businesses Koji Yamamoto explores for the first time how promises of public service in the economic sphere came to be abused and how statesmen playwrights petitioners and merchants responded to such perversions of promised public service Metaepistemology Conor McHugh,Jonathan Way,Daniel Whiting,2018-12-06 Epistemology like ethics is normative Just as ethics addresses questions about how we ought to act so epistemology addresses questions about how we ought to believe and enquire We can also ask metanormative questions What does it mean to claim that someone ought to do or believe something Do such claims express beliefs about independently existing facts or only attitudes of approval and disapproval towards certain pieces of conduct How do putative facts about what people ought to do or believe fit in to the natural world In the case of ethics such questions have been subject to extensive and systematic investigation yielding the thriving subdiscipline of metaethics Yet the corresponding questions have been largely ignored in epistemology there is no serious subdiscipline of metaepistemology This surprising state of affairs reflects a more general tendency for ethics and epistemology to be carried out largely in isolation from each other despite the important substantive and structural connections between them A movement to overturn the general tendency has only recently gained serious momentum and has yet to tackle metanormative questions in a sustained way This edited collection aims to stimulate this project and thus advance the new subdiscipline of metaepistemology Its original essays draw on the sophisticated theories and frameworks that have been developed in metaethics concerning practical normativity examine whether they can be applied to epistemic normativity and consider what this might tell us about both
