Roberts Gemini 55 Manual:

Digital Apollo David A. Mindell, 2011-09-30 The incredible story of how human pilots and automated systems worked together to achieve the ultimate achievement in flight the lunar landings of NASA's Apollo program As Apollo 11's Lunar Module descended toward the moon under automatic control a program alarm in the guidance computer's software nearly caused a mission abort Neil Armstrong responded by switching off the automatic mode and taking direct control He stopped monitoring the computer and began flying the spacecraft relying on skill to land it and earning praise for a triumph of human over machine In Digital Apollo engineer historian David Mindell takes this famous moment as a starting point for an exploration of the relationship between humans and computers in the Apollo program In each of the six Apollo landings the astronaut in command seized control from the computer and landed with his hand on the stick Mindell recounts the story of astronauts' desire to control their spacecraft in parallel with the history of the Apollo Guidance Computer From the early days of aviation through the birth of spaceflight test pilots and astronauts sought to be more than man in a can despite the automatic controls digital computers and software developed by engineers Digital Apollo examines the design and execution of each of the six Apollo moon landings drawing on transcripts and data telemetry from the flights astronaut interviews and NASA's extensive archives Mindell's exploration of how human pilots and automated systems worked together to achieve the ultimate in flight a lunar landing traces and reframes the debate over the future of humans and automation in space The results have implications for any venture in which human roles seem threatened by automated systems whether it is the work at our desktops or the future of exploration

Regulatory Problems and Disorders in Early Childhood: Aetiology, Contextual Factors, Developmental Outcomes and Pathways, and Treatment Options Anna Katharina Georg, Ayten Bilgin, Julia Jaekel, 2025-01-08 Regulatory problems defined as excessive crying sleeping or feeding problems are among the most common concerns of parents with children 0-5 years old These problems are typically understood within the context of the parent-child relationship however the complex underlying mechanisms that explain the occurrence and continuation as well as long-term outcomes of regulatory problems are still poorly understood Despite some promising treatment options important knowledge gaps remain to be addressed which will inform evidence-based practice for services of children aged 0-5 With this Research Topic we aim to bring together research from different countries and from multidisciplinary research backgrounds on the topic of regulatory problems and disorders We particularly encourage research that focuses on observed parent-child interactions in relation to regulatory problems We view regulatory problems as a transdiagnostic biopsychosocial concept covering excessive crying sleeping and/or feeding and eating problems However studies with a focus on any of these problems are also encouraged Flesh and Bones Monique Kornell, 2022-03-01 This illustrated volume examines the different methods artists and anatomists used to reveal the inner workings of the human body and evoke wonder in its form For centuries anatomy was a fundamental component of artistic training as artists such as Leonardo da Vinci and Michelangelo sought to skillfully portray the human form In Europe illustrations that captured the complex structure of the body spectacularly realized by anatomists artists and printmakers in early atlases such as Andreas Vesalius s De hominis corporis fabrica libri septem of 1543 found an audience with both medical practitioners and artists Flesh and Bones examines the inventive ways anatomy has been presented from the sixteenth through the twenty first century including an animated corpse displaying its own body for study anatomized antique sculpture spectacular life size prints delicate paper flaps and 3 D stereoscopic photographs Drawn primarily from the vast holdings of the Getty Research Institute the over 150 striking images which range in media from woodcut to neon reveal the uncanny beauty of the human body under the skin This volume is published to accompany an exhibition on view at the Getty Research Institute at the Getty Center from February 22 to July 10 2022 Maine Register, State Year-book and Legislative Manual ,1995
