Exercise 105
Read, copy, and transcribe
The first of the great principles of shorthand is that of brevity. It is the foundation of the system, and without it
it would be impossible to write quickly. The second principle is that of simplicity. The symbols should be as simple as possible, and the system should be easy to learn. The third principle is that of accuracy. The symbols should be so constructed that they can be written and
read with perfect
accuracy. The fourth
principle is that of economy. The system
should be so constructed that it can be written and read with the least possible effort.
