- Price sensitivity to the price: how much will an individual spend on a particular good if the price changes?
 - If the price is low sufficient, then the number of people who will buy the good is high. If the price is high, the number of people who will buy the good is low.
- Price elasticity: how much the quantity demanded will change if the price changes.
 - When a price is changed, the percentage change in the quantity demanded is calculated after each unit of quantity. Compared to the original with the highest price is elastic.
- When a price is elastic, "elastic" and when it is inelastic, "inelastic" and when it is unit elastic, "unit elastic". There is a point where the quantity demanded is equal to the price. This is the point where the quantity demanded is equal to the price. This is the point where the quantity demanded is equal to the price.
