Research Summary

In this study, we examine the interaction between race, gender, and risk assessment score on risk for recidivism. We used the Youth Level of Service/Case Management Inventory (YLS/CMI) to measure criminogenic risk among a sample of delinquent youth. The results of multivariate Cox regression revealed a significant interaction between race, gender, and risk score when predicting recidivism. The findings indicated that the slope of the relationship between risk score and recidivism differed significantly for Black youth as compared with White youth and that this interaction was even more pronounced for the subsample of males. These findings suggest that there may be social or other policy/enforcement-related factors that increase risk for recidivism for Black youth.

Policy Implications

We found that although there were no differences in overall risk score across White and Black youth, Black males were at increased risk for future recidivism. These findings

The Changing Borders of Juvenile Justice Jeffrey Fagan, Franklin E. Zimring, 2000-09 Since the 1960s recurring cycles of political activism over youth crime have motivated efforts to remove adolescents from the juvenile court Periodic surges of crime youth violence in the 1970s the spread of gangs in the 1980s and more recently epidemic gun violence and drug related crime have spurred laws and policies aimed at narrowing the reach of the juvenile court Despite declining juvenile crime rates every state in the country has increased the number of youths tried and punished as adults Research in this area has not kept pace with these legislative developments There has never been a detailed sociolegal analytic book devoted to this topic In this important collection researchers discuss policy substantive procedural and empirical dimensions of waivers and where the boundaries of the courts lie Part 1 provides an overview of the origins and development of law and contemporary policy on the jurisdiction of adolescents Part 2 examines the effects of jurisdictional shifts Part 3 offers valuable insight into the developmental and psychological aspects of current and future reforms Contributors Donna Bishop Richard Bonnie M A Bortner Elizabeth Cauffman Linda Frost Clausel Robert O Dawson Jeffrey Fagan Barry Feld Charles Frazier Thomas Grisso Darnell Hawkins James C Howell Akiva Liberman Richard Redding Simon Singer Laurence Steinberg David Tanenhaus Marjorie Zatz and Franklin E Zimring The ^AMyth of the Community Fix Sarah D. Cate, 2023-02-14

In The Myth of the Community Fix Sarah D Cate explores the consequences of the widespread bipartisan embrace of the community based reform movement in the juvenile justice system Using a qualitative comparative case study focused on Texas California and Pennsylvania she traces the historical development of juvenile justice policy and the limitations of the community based reform movement As Cate shows the current community based reform movement has led to a number of negative consequences particularly for racial minorities and working class youth By contextualizing the community based reform movement as part of the broader shift away from the centralized provision of public goods in the United States this book demonstrates why those committed to addressing the problems of mass incarceration should be wary of the community fix been acknowledged for some years that the early onset of delinquency can predict a long and serious criminal career. Most resources are targeted at the teenage years but this book argues convincingly that more research and interventions should be aimed at child delinquents aged 12 and under. Tomorrow's Criminals addresses key problems in criminological research and makes studies from the Netherlands more accessible to a wider audience. It provides information and analyses on risk factors and reviews screening tools and risk focused prevention methods. The contributions increase visibility and accessibility of European policy and practice in the explanation and prevention of child delinquency.

Early Psychological Research Contributions from Women of Color, Volume 2 Rihana Shiri Mason, Jon E. Grahe, Michelle L. Ceynar, 2024-07-29

This volume serves as a companion to Early Psychological Research Contributions from Women of Color Volume I. It focuses on the dissertations of 20 builders women of color who earned their doctoral degrees in psychology prior to 1990 and who were leaders in the field through their leadership or innovation. An introductory chapter bridges the two volumes. Each subsequent chapter summarizes and examines a dissertation using a consistent format including a biographical sketch of the builder with an emphasis on her significant contribution to an organization or innovation that moved the field forward, a summary of the dissertation, a reproducibility critique of the dissertation, and an alternative framework section that analyzes the dissertation from a modern theoretical perspective or methodological approach, e.g., feminist theory, liberation psychology, mestiza consciousness, etc. The topics cover the breadth of the discipline of psychology including physiological, cognitive, developmental, social, and clinical. Some topics are also relevant to business, education, medicine, and social work. The varying nature of these dissertations allows the book to be used to augment coursework either as a complete collection or as individual chapters. This volume is intended for both instructors and students. The course activities provide examples of how to integrate key aspects of the dissertation research into the classroom. The volume was written with upper level undergraduate students in mind so that it could be used across the psychology curriculum but the editors envision this book as a potential graduate level text as well.

Juvenile Justice James Burfeind, Dawn Jeglum Bartusch, Dusten R. Hollist, 2018-09-03

This book provides a comprehensive and thought provoking introduction to the juvenile justice system in the United States. It begins by tracing the historical origins of the legal concept of juvenile delinquency and the institutional responses that developed and analyzes the problem of delinquency including its patterns, correlates, and causes. With this essential foundation, the greater part of the book examines the full range of efforts to respond to delinquency through both informal and formal mechanisms of juvenile justice. Core coverage includes: The history and transformation of juvenile justice; The nature and causes of delinquency; Policing juveniles; Juvenile court processes; Juvenile probation and community based corrections; Residential placement and aftercare programs; Delinquency prevention; Linking systems of care. This book is designed as a core text for courses on juvenile justice. Each chapter begins with a compelling case study and learning objectives that draw attention to the topics discussed. Each chapter ends with one or two readings.
