Consumer-centered Computer-supported Care for Healthy People Hyeoun-Ae Park, Peter Murray, Connie White Delaney, 2006. Intended for nurses and informatics experts working with informatics applications in nursing care administration research and education. This book's theme, Consumer-Centered Computer-Supported Care for Healthy People, emphasizes the central role of the consumer and the function of information technology in health care. Starting Your Practice Jean Nagelkerk, 2005-10-28. This unique resource is an ideal career planning guide for advanced practice students, recent graduates, and practicing nurse practitioners who want to expand their careers. It's filled with helpful guidelines and proven strategies for success in every aspect of NP practice, including certification and licensure, finding and negotiating a practice opportunity, and developing community and professional partnerships. Guidelines for completing the necessary requirements for certification and licensure. Tips for finding and negotiating a practice opportunity. Strategies for using available technology and tools such as the internet and PDAs to create a successful clinical practice environment. Ideas for developing a community partnership by creating successful professional and clinical contacts in the community. Practical advice on how best to market oneself and interview with potential employers. Key information on establishing systems in practice, using tools to enhance clinical judgment, and other important responsibilities related to clinical practice. A wealth of real-world examples, including resumes, collaborative agreements, contracts, business plans, billing and coding, and productivity flowcharts, provide essential resources for a successful practice. Writing and Reading Mental Health Records J. Frederick Reynolds, David C. Mair, Pamela C. Fischer, 2013-12-02. This revised and updated second edition is a rhetorical analysis of written communication in the mental health community. As such, it contributes to the growing body of research being done in rhetoric and composition studies on the nature of writing and reading in highly specialized professional discourse communities. Many compelling questions answered in this volume include: What ideological biases are reflected in the language the nurse rhetorician uses to talk to and talk about the patient? How does language figure into the process of constructing meaning in this context? What social interactions with the patient, with other nurses, with physicians influence the nurse's attempt to construct meaning in this context? How do the readers of assessments construct their own meanings of the assessment? Based on an ongoing collaboration between composition studies specialists and mental health practitioners, this book presents research of value not only to writing scholars and teachers but also to professional clinicians, their teachers, and those who read mental health records in order to make critically important decisions. It can also be valuable as a model for other scholars to follow when conducting similar long-range studies of other writing-intensive professions.
