

Abstract

This research investigates various formation processes that have been developed by Far Right groups in response to the global health emergency crisis caused by COVID-19. An examination of statements by six organizations of the Identitarian and National Socialist movements published online over a two-month period revealed six “crisis frames” that have been evolved: migration, globalization, governance, freedom, resilience, and conspiracy. In addition to determining crisis frames applied by Far Right, this study has found that these Far Right groups emphasized involvement in activities aimed at nourishing community sustainability. It was further identified that conspiracy theories and disinformation practices were mostly absent. These findings imply that in the early stages of the COVID crisis, there was a shift by certain Far Right groups not to practices of encouraging violent disputes, but to using propaganda to highlight their contribution to supporting families, communities, and the nation, against the government’s failure to fight the virus . This paper is a first step towards understanding the development of the modern “crisis frame” in the Far Right, focusing on the interactive processes that occur between Far Right groups, global events and the authorities.

Demystifying Academic Writing Zhihui Fang, 2021-04-15 Informative insightful and accessible this book is designed to enhance the capacity of graduate and undergraduate students as well as early career scholars to write for academic purposes Fang describes key genres of academic writing common rhetorical moves associated with each genre essential skills needed to write the genres and linguistic resources and strategies that are functional and effective for performing these moves and skills Fang's functional linguistic approach to academic writing enables readers to do so much more than write grammatically well formed sentences. It leverages writing as a process of designing meaning to position language choices as the central focus, illuminating how language is a creative resource for presenting information, developing argument, embedding perspectives, engaging audience, and structuring text across genres and disciplines. Covering reading responses, book reviews, literature reviews, argumentative essays, empirical research articles, grant proposals, and more, this text is an all in one resource for building a successful career in academic writing and scholarly publishing. Each chapter features crafts for effective communication, authentic writing examples, practical applications, and reflective questions. Fang complements these features with self assessment tools for writers and tips for empowering writers. Assuming no technical knowledge, this text is ideal for both non native and native English speakers and suitable for courses in academic writing, rhetoric and composition, and language literacy education.
