The Routledge Handbook of Youth Physical Activity Timothy Brusseau, Stuart Fairclough, David Lubans, 2020-04-07 Over the past three decades, the study of pediatric physical inactivity has become a public health concern. The decreases in physical activity have been associated with obesity and numerous hypokinetic diseases. In accordance with this public health concern, the study of pediatric physical activity has become a central part of research in the health and exercise science fields. The Routledge Handbook of Youth Physical Activity is the first book to survey the full depth and breadth of the issues facing this field. Bringing together many of the world's experts and practitioners, the book helps to develop an understanding of the underlying issues related to pediatric physical activity as well as the role physical activity plays on cognitive, psychomotor, and social aspects of childhood. The book addresses issues with physical activity measurement and discusses wide-ranging aspects of physical activity interventions. With more emphasis than ever on physical activity, this book makes an important contribution to the scholars and practitioners working in the field of youth physical activity. This is the first single text on the state of current knowledge related to pediatric physical activity which offers a comprehensive guide to students and academics on these subjects. The Routledge Handbook of Youth Physical Activity is key reading for all advanced students, researchers, practitioners, and policy makers with an interest in physical activity, youth sport, public health matters, sport studies, or physical education.

Life by Algorithms Catherine Besteman, Hugh Gusterson, 2019-05-23 Essays on the downsides, dysfunctions, and dangers of automated decision making. An excellent survey of the algorithmically managed life choice. The phone systems that businesses use to screen calls. The link between student standardized test scores and public schools' access to resources. The algorithms that regulate patient diagnoses and reimbursements to doctors. The impenetrable corporate bureaucracy that can drive customers in need of help up the wall or drive them to suicide. The storage, sorting, and analysis of massive amounts of information have enabled the automation of decision making at an unprecedented level. Meanwhile, computers have offered a model of cognition that increasingly shapes our approach to the world. The proliferation

Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19): Pathophysiology, Epidemiology, Clinical Management and Public Health Response ,2023-01-25 Volume I A An outbreak of a respiratory disease first reported in Wuhan China in December 2019 and the causative agent was discovered in January 2020 to be a novel betacoronavirus of the same subgenus as SARS CoV and named severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 SARS CoV 2 Coronavirus disease 2019 COVID 19 has rapidly disseminated worldwide with clinical manifestations ranging from mild respiratory symptoms to severe pneumonia and a fatality rate estimated around 2%. Person to person transmission is occurring both in the community and healthcare settings. The World Health Organization (WHO) has recently declared the COVID-19 epidemic a public health emergency of international concern. The ongoing outbreak presents many clinical and public health management challenges due to limited understanding of viral pathogenesis, risk factors for infection, natural history of disease, including clinical presentation and outcomes, prognostic factors for severe illness, period of infectivity, modes and extent of virus inter-human transmission, as well as effective preventive measures and public health response and containment interventions. There are no antiviral treatment nor vaccine available but fast track research and development efforts including clinical therapeutic trials are ongoing across the world. Managing this serious epidemic requires the appropriate deployment of limited human resources across all cadres of health care and public health staff including clinical laboratory, managerial and epidemiological data analysis and risk assessment experts. It presents challenges around public communication and messaging around risk with the potential for misinformation and disinformation. Therefore, integrated operational research and intervention learning from experiences across different fields and settings should contribute towards better understanding and managing COVID-19. This Research Topic aims to highlight interdisciplinary research approaches deployed during the COVID-19 epidemic, addressing knowledge gaps and generating evidence for its improved management and control. It will incorporate critical, theoretically informed and empirically grounded original research contributions using diverse approaches: experimental, observational and intervention studies, conceptual framing, expert opinions and reviews from across the world. The Research Topic proposes a multi-dimensional approach to improving the management of COVID-19 with scientific contributions from all areas of virology, immunology, clinical microbiology, epidemiology, therapeutics, communications, as well as infection prevention and public health risk assessment and management studies. Oxford Textbook of Neurorehabilitation Volker Dietz, Nick S.

Ward, 2020-05-28. Neurorehabilitation is an expanding field with an increasing clinical impact due to an ageing population. During the last 20 years, neurorehabilitation has developed from a discipline with little scientific background, separated from other medical centers, to a medical entity largely based on the principles of evidenced-based medicine with strong ties to basic research and clinical neurology. Today, neurorehabilitation is still a work in progress and treatment standards are not yet established for all aspects of the field. There are very few books that address contemporary neurorehabilitation from this perspective. This new edition of the Oxford Textbook of Neurorehabilitation provides an understanding of the theoretical underpinnings of the subject as well as a clear perspective on how and why to approach treatment decisions on an individualized basis. The book has been thoroughly updated to reflect novel important developments in the field and includes new chapters on vocational rehabilitation, self-management strategies in neurorehabilitation and music-supported therapy in neurorehabilitation. This indispensable book will be of great interest to rehabilitation physicians, neurologists and allied health care professionals who look after patients requiring neurorehabilitation Bibliography of Agriculture ,1958
