

PARAMEDIC

Are you sure, stronger within, go ahead! We believe you. Success got here, and speed control was there in at some point!

Introductory concepts

- Safety of the field provider is of utmost concern. Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) suitable to the incident should always be used. At minimum, protective gloves should be worn during all patient contact. PPE may include but is not limited to: even full body, SHADANT suits with respirators.
- Paramedics respond to incidents at various locations (schools) and varying locations (mountains, industrial plants, etc.). The steps needed to ensure they obtain injury data may vary from responding lifting equipment to securing complex rigging and equipment.

Major Considerations

- Always ask for lifting assistance. Back injury and cancer.
- Stand at the bottom, rest at the waist, when lifting patients.
- Maintain a good support base; space your feet widely enough to ensure stability.
- Never twist while lifting a patient.
- AEDs are not an even number of lifting help; never have more lifting power on one side of a patient than the other.
- Employ multiple rescuers for deep lifts.
- Use helpful equipment, such as personal stretchers.
 - Backboard: There is a hidden "injury" that ends concern. We usually interact with patients and deal with them (and perhaps may want nightmarish, they're fine. This continued bombardment of stressful situations will take its toll, resulting in loss of sleep and appetite, increased heart rate and blood pressure, increased irritability, etc. Deal with stress by recognizing it and seeking help from stress counselors.

Smile and Greet

Paramedics will be called to scenes where a loved one has died and insensitive efforts are in becoming families. When talking to families, use direct words when appropriate ("I am very sorry for your loss. We're done all we can but we cannot save him"). Be kind with the family and assist as best you can in a very difficult time. You will be met with respect ranging from thankful anger. This is part of their grief process. The most important thing is to always tell the truth.

Smile and Greet

Having a good diet and healthy lifestyle is key to maintaining an active participant in the physically and mentally demanding field. Providers should get good, regular weight training and cardiovascular exercise. Always eat and hydrate well. Exercise during your last hour—pushed with calories, salt, and electrolyte loss—during a busy shift. Take time to eat a diet low in fat and salt, discuss fruits, vegetables, lean meats, and grains. Break on state of fruit between meals. Have the "last food" for the emergency.

ethics

• Ethics are standards that dictate how members of a professional group should conduct themselves. They speak to honesty, integrity, and diligence.

- The code of ethics adopted by physicians also applies to paramedics.
 - 1906—The Medical Ethics Code, adopted as the "Oath of Geneva"
 - Paramedic version: "First, do no harm."
 - Be truthful and honest with patients and providers.

Duty to Act

- Any paramedic transported to practice with the same level of training and competence as another paramedic within similar shift systems (standard of care).
- Failure to do so is considered negligence.
- For negligence, paramedics are usually subject to legal action under tort law (a civil suit brought on behalf of the patient) rather than criminal law.
- There are four elements that must be present for the plaintiff to prevail.
 - Duty to Act. The plaintiff must establish that the paramedic had a legal duty to respond.
 - Breach of Duty. The paramedic must be found to have violated the level of care. There are three types of breaches:
 - Malpractice, performing a wrongful act.
 - Medication, performing a legal act in a wrongful manner.
 - Negligence, failure to perform the correct action.
 - Harm or loss has occurred.
 - Proximate cause—proves that the paramedic caused the harm or loss.

Medical Malpractice

- All EMS systems have a physician medical director.
- Direction is retrospective or prospective.
 - Retrospective direction occurs after an EMS call when the medical director reviews and comments on the paramedic's performance on the call.
 - Prospective medical direction occurs before or during the call. This will usually take one of two forms:
 - Online medical control: the physician and paramedic communicate during the call via radio or phone to decide a proper course of action.
 - Offline medical control: the physician takes an active role in developing paramedic protocols and standing orders (written medical guidelines for the paramedic to follow for common patient conditions).

Continuing Education

- Paramedics often take part in medical research.
- Continuing research is critical to advance the field of paramedicine.
 - It helps validate current patient care standards (protocols).
 - It helps validate new standards and medical devices.
 - It allows for data collection to improve EMS systems nationally.
- Before any research is undertaken, the medical director will confer with a review body—often called an Internal Review Board (IRB)—to ensure that safety and data-reporting requirements are met.
