Driver Behaviour and Training: Volume VI Lisa Dorn,2016-12-05 Today s society must confront major land transport problems The human and financial costs of vehicle accidents are increasing with road traffic accidents predicted to become the third largest cause of death and injury across the world by 2020 Several social trends pose threats to safety including increasing car ownership and traffic congestion the increased complexity of the human vehicle interface the ageing of populations in the developed world and a possible influx of young vehicle operators in the developing world The Human Factors in Road and Rail Transport series aims to make a timely contribution to these issues by focusing on the driver as a contributing causal agent in road and rail accidents The series seeks to reflect the increasing demand for safe efficient and economical land based transport by reporting on the state of the art science that may be applied to reduce vehicle collisions improve the usability of vehicles and enhance the operator's wellbeing and satisfaction. It will do so by disseminating new theoretical and empirical research from specialists in the behavioural and allied disciplines including traffic psychology, human factors and ergonomics. The series captures topics such as driver behaviour, driver training in vehicle technology, driver health and driver assessment. Specially commissioned works from internationally recognised experts in the field will provide authoritative accounts of the leading approaches to this significant real world problem.
